One death results from windstorm near McDonald.—Page 3.

LOCAL.

The hopes of John P. Elkin received a severe blow on Saturday, when four counties elected 12 delegates, all of whom will be against him, and his friends' extravagant claims are not likely to be realized.—Page 1.

Three violent deaths were reported from this vicinity yesterday, one woman being kicked down stairs and killed by her son-in-law, while two men committed suicide.—Page 1.

Approaching visit of President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad, with his staff, is likely to result in great terminal improvements around Pittsburgh.—Page 1.

The committee of experts engaged to report on the proposed polytechnic school, will meet in New York this week, and their report will show contradictions of several theories advanced by former bodies of the same kind.—Page 10.

Crowded churches greeted President Francis L. Patton of Princeton university and Bishop Earl Cranston, who occupied local pulpits yesterday.—Page 8.

The charges of the local packers and provision dealers, that the beef trust receives the benefit of unjust freight discrimination, backed up by evidence, are now in the hands of Attorney General P. C. Knox.—Page 1.

United Labor League at meeting last night, passed resolutions demanding that organized labor be given a fair share of the legislative nominees on the Citizens' ticket this fall.—Page 6.

Thomas H. Flynn, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor, says that his organization contributed $38,000 to help the Amalgamated association in the steel strike last summer.—Page 5.

Telephone wires are down in many parts of the city and the striking linemen say that they have been greatly aided by the elements.—Page 10.

E. P. Williams of No. 5915 Harvard street, East End., was robbed of $20 in cash and an ancient Roman coin, valued at $500, in a crowded street car in Penn avenue last evening.—Page 1.

Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw, Attorney General P. C. Knox, Postmaster General H. C. Payne and Congressman C. E. Littlefield were the guests of the American club Saturday night, left Pittsburgh for Washington over the Pennsylvania railroad at 9 o'clock last night.—Page 5.

The pastors of a number of churches in the city preached special sermons to Odd Fellows yesterday, as it was the 83d anniversary of the organization of the order in America.—Page 8.

SPORTING.

Champions succeeded in again whitewashing Seele's Chicago team in a close and interesting game, by a score of 2 to 0.—Page 6.

Pirate players may join Umpire Joe Camilion's all-star team in touring the west and Honolulu.—Page 6.

Racing entries for Aqueduct, Oakland and Nashville tracks.—Page 6.

EMINENT PRELATES TO VISIT PITTSBURGH

Will Gather Here at Semi-Centennial of the Passionist Fathers.

Papal Delegate Coming.

The Passionist Fathers in St. Paul's monastery, South Side, will celebrate today the feast of their founder, St. Paul of the Cross. There will be a solemn high mass at 10:30 this morning. The celebration of the 50th anniversary of the establishment of this order in this country will be celebrated in July. The celebration will bring together one of the greatest gatherings of Catholic dignitaries seen in this city in years.

Manager Falconlon, the recently appointed papal delegate to this country, succeeding Cardinal Martinelli, will represent the pope at this celebration. Cardinal Gibbons will also be here for the occasion. The monastery is being enlarged to accommodate the large number of invited guests. Archbishops Ryan, Ireland, Corrigan and Katzer have accepted invitations. Archbishop Ireland will probably deliver the oration of the day. The celebration will continue for one week.

Last Rites Administered.

James L. Devenny, one of the best-known business men of McKeesport, is not expected to live through the day. He became very ill Saturday night and several physicians were called in, who, after a consultation, said that Mr. Devenny was suffering from congestion of the brain. Yesterday he received the last rites of the Roman Catholic church from the Rev. Father C. A. McDermott.

HOW THE BEEF CONSPIRACY IS TO BE PROVED

Government Will Have Recourse to Evidence Already Taken by Interstate Commerce Commission on Discriminations.

CORROBORATIVE EVIDENCE FROM DIFFERENT SOURCES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by New York Herald.)

Washington, D. C., April 27.—It is possible tonight to give an outline of the principal points that will be made by District Attorney Bethea of Chicago and ex-Judge Day of this city in their application for an injunction to restrain the beef trust houses from continuing the powerful combination that has made meats of all kinds a luxury.

It will be necessary for these attorneys to prove that a contract or combination has been formed in restraint of trade, of commerce among the several states of the union, or with foreign nations. Such a combination is declared illegal by the Sherman anti-trust law, under which the proceedings in Chicago are being brought. That a combination, the object of which has been to monopolize the beef trade, has been formed and is in actual operation, will be shown by the authorities conclusively and by the cumulative evidence.

It will be demonstrated in the cut rates given by the railroad companies to the beef trust, the existence of which was proved by the investigations of the interstate commerce commission in March of last year.

Fixed Prices in Concert.

It will be again demonstrated by evidence showing that the great packing houses which compose the "Big Six" have acted in concert in advancing or lowering the price of meats to their customers.

It will be proved by the "credit agreement," under which any customer who is delinquent to any one of the trust houses is blacklisted and refused credit by all other members of the trust.

This evidence will be corroborated by the testimony of independent dealers who have been undersold and crushed by the trust; by the evidence of cattlemen, showing an agreement upon prices to paid by the trust firms for cattle, and by the testimony of former employes of trust houses who are familiar with the workings of the great combination.

In its bearing upon the existence of a conspiracy within the meaning of the Sherman anti-trust law, the evidence taken by the inter-state commerce commission, for which ex-Judge Day acted as counsel, is important. It shows that the concessions made in freight rates were given to all of the trust houses and were refused to other shippers. J. M. Johnson, third vice-president and freight traffic manager of the Rock Island railroad, said that the concession of 5 cents from the published schedule was given to the trust houses. The method by which this was accomplished was shown by the following testimony:

What the Record Shows.

Mr. Day—How was this cut rate exhibited on the bill of lading? Was it exhibited there? Was it done flat, or fixed up by voucher?

Mr. Johnson—The net rate on domestic provisions and on dressed beef was fixed by voucher; that is, the difference between the published tariff rate and the contract rate on domestic provisions and dressed meats was refunded, while the export provisions were handled in a different way, sometimes billed prepaid at a flat rate and then again repaid the difference between the contract rate and the domestic tariff rate.

Attorney General Knox is in possession of a copy of the "credit agreement," showing that the trust houses in the sales of their products acted practically as a single concern. He has also a copy of the "cartage agreement," under which all of the trust houses agreed to make the customer pay for the delivery of the purchases.

Although this evidence is believed to be conclusive in establishing the existence of the conspiracy, it is understood here that Mr. Bethea and ex-Judge Day have been on other lines of inquiry which are expected to make the government's case impregnable. The department of justice is confident that the proceedings which are about to be begun cannot fail.

ATTORNEY GENERAL HAS THE EVIDENCE

Charges of Freight Rebates Made by Local Dealers Are in Knox's Hands.

Attorney General Knox is in possession of the charges of the local packers and provision men against the railroads and beef trust in regard to freight rebates in the Pittsburgh district. The charges were placed in the hands of Attorney General Knox Saturday evening by a representative of the local packers. The attorney general has promised to make an investigation and to assist the local people in their fight to stop the discrimination in favor of the trust.

"The complaints of the Pittsburgh packers were given to Mr. Knox privately so as to avoid undue notoriety and publicity," said a prominent packer yesterday. "We are more hopeful now than we have ever been that something will be done to stop this unjust discrimination against us. We do not object to legitimate competition, but it is neither legitimate nor fair for the railroads to give the western packers rebates and shipping privileges that are denied us.

"We have complained heretofore to the interstate commerce commission without obtaining any satisfaction, but the conditions at present are more encouraging. The commission is certainly in a position to do something and I have confidence in Mr. Knox's statement, published in The Gazette that the national administration is not making a grandstand play.

Chance to Win Now.

"I am in favor of employing a lawyer to prosecute our case before the interstate commerce commission. If Attorney General Knox decides that he cannot take action in the matter of local freight rebates he will transmit the evidence which has been given him to the interstate commerce commission. We have every assurance that he is in sympathy with us. If there ever was an opportunity for us to fight the beef trust and win that time is now."

John R. Rush, president of the Valley Trust Company of the East End, is a large cattle owner and shipper and yesterday gave a Gazette representative some interesting and instructive information in regard to the methods of the meat combine. Mr. Rush owns a cattle and horse ranch near Cheyenne, Wyoming, where he spends several months every summer. He said yesterday that Swift & Co. had owned a cattle ranch near his place in Wyoming, where cattle were fed and raised for the market.

Packers Have Agreement.

"While I do not approve of everything that has been said against the western packers there is no doubt that they have a working agreement and are able to force up prices or force them down at their pleasure," said Mr. Rush. "This has often occurred. For instance, if 10,000 cattle would be shipped in one lot

A GROUP OF RETAIL BUTCHERS.
The Men Who Have Suffered Most from the Methods of the Beef Trust.

AN OLD WOMAN WAS KILLED BY HER SON-IN-LAW

Frank Conley Kicked His Wife's Mother Down Stairs, for Interfering in a Family Quarrel.

TWO COMMITTED SUICIDE BECAUSE OF DESPONDENCY

A family quarrel and despondency caused the violent deaths of three persons in this vicinity yesterday. Frank Conley, a structural iron worker kicked his mother-in-law, Mrs. Kate McGory, down the stairs of his home in Butler street because she interfered in an altercation he was having with his wife. Thomas Hoarty, an aged resident of McKeesport, drank carbolic acid, because he was too old to work, and Reuben S. Cramer of Braddock, despondent because of business troubles, drank laudanum and put an end to his existence.

Because she interfered in a family quarrel, Frank Conley kicked his mother-in-law, Mrs. Kate McGory, down the second story stairs at his home, No. 3526 Butler street, yesterday afternoon, and in falling she broke her neck, dying instantly. Conley and his wife, Mrs. Kate Conley, are locked up in No. 5 police station on a charge of murder. Conley's sister, Mrs. Patrick Conley, is also incarcerated there as a witness. Mrs. McGory's remains were taken to the morgue. Conley is a structural iron worker and is 28 years old. Mrs. McGory was 47 years old and was employed as a washerwoman by a nearby family. Conley is a father of three children.

The tragedy was the culmination of a family quarrel. Conley and his wife had been drinking to some extent during the day. Yesterday afternoon he suggested that his mother-in-law should come to the house for supper. His wife consented and Conley went to the house of Charles Cohen, where she was employed, and she consented to come with him.

About 5:30 they were all congregated in the second story room and were drinking. Conley wanted to leave the house. His wife objected. He insisted that he should go out, and had some words with his wife. Mrs. Conley resented this and he struck her on the head.

Hit Conley with Brick.

Mrs. McGory interjected and told Conley that she wouldn't permit him to strike his wife in front of her. He rebuked her for her words and made an attempt to hit her. Mrs. McGory went to the stove, and taking up a brick, which was used as a lid, threw it at her son-in-law, striking him on the side of the head.

The impact of the blow laid Conley on the floor. Mrs. McGory went to the next room and started to go out of the house. Conley then revived from the effects of the blow. He ran into the next room and started to eject Mrs. McGory from the room. Mrs. McGory had a small clock and teapot in the room which she wanted and stopped to take it with her. All this time the trio were having a wordy war. Conley's children became frightened and ran into the kitchen.

Mrs. McGory succeeded in getting her teapot and clock and started to leave the house. As she passed the entrance to the hall Conley ran one after her. At the head of the stairs he gave her a kick that sent her headlong down the flight.

The force of the kick turned Mrs. McGory over and over in her fall down the stairs. At the landing she fell on her head and rolled over on her back. She lay there motionless. Her neck was broken and she was killed instantly. As she fell at the landing C. D. Tacher, a friend of Conley's, entered the hall.

Gave Himself Up.

He moved Mrs. McGory over on her back and told Conley she was dead. Conley came down stairs and looking at the dead woman said: "Well, I have killed her, and I will give myself up." At this juncture Capt. C. P. Ford was passing the place, and Conley called him in and gave himself up.

Conley, his wife and sister were taken to No. 5 police station in a patrol wagon. Mrs. McGory was taken to the morgue. Charges of murder were preferred against Conley and his wife, and his sister, Mrs. Kate Conley, was held as a witness.

His sister lives in Wilkinsburg and is married to Patrick Conley. She was paying them a visit when the quarrel took place, but did not enter into the altercation.

Conley is a son of John Conley, railroad contractor of this city. He has been employed as a structural iron worker by the American Bridge Company. Conley is known as an industrious man, but has recently been drinking heavily. He has been married six years and has three children, Thomas, 5 years, William 3 years and one infant daughter, Marie, 8 months old. The infant girl was taken to the police station with her mother.

Mrs. McGory has been married twice, and her second husband is still living. They do not get along well together and recently separated.

Conley's children were cared for last night by Mrs. Sullivan of No. 3542 Butler street.

An Old Man's Suicide.

Despondent because he was too old to work, Thomas Hoarty, 69 years old, of No. 1616 Ninth street, McKeesport, committed suicide about 5 o'clock yesterday morning at his home by drinking two ounces of carbolic acid. The pain from the violent fluid caused him to groan so that his wife heard him. When he was found medical aid was summoned, but he was beyond their assistance. He died one hour afterward. Hoarty was a well-known mill worker. He worked steadily until last summer when he was discharged on account of his extreme age. This caused him to become melancholy, and he took his life. He was in comfortable circumstances financially. He leaves a wife and eight children.

Since Hoarty was discharged last summer he has been despondent. He would leave the house most of the day and stay around the rolling mills. He was continually persisting that he was too old to work. His children remonstrated with him, but he would not listen to them. He maintained he was able to make more money and wanted to do so. His family paid no attention to him.

Took Last Look at Wife.

On Saturday he left the house early in the day and did not return home until evening. During the day he bought a bottle of carbolic acid at a nearby drug store. He told the clerk that he wanted it to kill some bugs. Of late he had been very eccentric. One of these eccentricities was never to remove his clothing while sleeping.

He slept on a couch on the first floor. About 5 o'clock in the morning he went to his wife's room, and stopping there for a moment looked at her strangely, then turned and went down stairs, where he drank the acid. A few minutes later his wife heard him groaning. She ran downstairs and saw him lying on the floor. The carbolic acid bottle was found on a table nearby.

Hoarty's lips were badly burned by the acid. Mrs. Hoarty rushed up stairs to summon her son. He went for a physician, and Dr. Andrew Hunter was found by the side of the dying man. He was beyond all aid and died one hour later.

He was well to do and his children are all industrious men and women. Hoarty owned his home and was a member of several beneficial associations. He was a well-known character about McKeesport.

Ready For the Transfer.

Secretary of War Root Completes Arrangements for the Inauguration of New Cuban Government.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

MIAMI, FLA., April 27.—Secretary of War Root and Mrs. Root and their daughter arrived here from Cuba this afternoon on board the government yacht. Regarding the trip Secretary Root said:

"My visit to Cuba was for the purpose of arranging for the transfer of the island to the Cuban government on May 20. Seven artillery companies, consisting of 800 men, will remain in charge of the guns, ammunition, etc., which will be retained in Cuba for the United States naval stations."

The secretary says that no claim has been made by the United States for the settlement of the sums expended in freeing Cuba, but that the matter will be taken up when the Cuban government shall have been perfected.

CASSATT'S VISIT MAY MEAN MUCH FOR PITTSBURGH

Improvement of Local Terminal Facilities Will Be Closely Studied.

FRICK GIVES RECEPTION

President A. J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad system, and other executives of the Pennsylvania railroad, will be here some time Tuesday on a visit that promises much in vast improvement for the railroad facilities of the Pittsburgh district. The visit of Mr. Cassatt is the usual periodical inspection, except that it will be devoted almost exclusively to the Pittsburgh district, in looking over the field of proposed betterments, which have been under consideration.

It was forcibly brought to the attention of Mr. Cassatt and the Pennsylvania management, during the recent congestion of traffic here, greater than that at any other industrial center of the country, that additional facilities would have to be provided. In the past two years the Pennsylvania railroad interests have been expending something like $17,000,000 in the many terminal improvements made and under way here, and this has only shown that much more is needed.

A vast amount of improvement has been under consideration, but nothing will be determined upon till after the visit of President Cassatt.

Prominent Officials Coming.

He will be accompanied by the leading members of his staff, one or more of the vice-presidents, possibly Second Vice-President Charles E. Pugh, Fourth Vice-President Samuel Rea, Chief Engineer William H. Brown, E. T. Postlethwaite, assistant to the president, General Manager J. B. Hutchinson, from the Philadelphia headquarters, and from Altoona, General Superintendent J. M. Wallis and others. Reaching here, Mr. Cassatt and his party will be met by First Vice-President James McCrea of the Pennsylvania lines west and other executives of the system west, and Robert Pitcairn, president assistant to the president of the Pennsylvania system, and many other officials. The inspection will hardly extend to the lines west of Pittsburgh except in relation to the terminals of the Pittsburgh district.

Mr. Cassatt has accepted an invitation to be the honor guest at a reception to be given by Henry C. Frick at the Frick residence, Clayton, Penn and Homewood avenues, Wednesday night, from 8 till 12 o'clock. Mr. Frick's reception will be of the leading business men of Pittsburgh, but it is understood that it will not have any direct bearing on the real business of Mr. Cassatt's visit.

Visit Significant.

Some time ago the leading executives and other general officials of concerns of the United States Steel Corporation met a number of Pennsylvania system executives in Philadelphia to lay before them the importance of better facilities for handling the gigantic Pittsburgh traffic. This was done in view of the vast improvements which are under consideration for the steel corporation operations in this district and on which the major portion of the $50,000,000 fund, that is soon to be created, may be expended. Nothing definite has yet developed from the Philadelphia conference, but the visit of President Cassatt may bring it to an issue.

Robert Pitcairn said last night, in relation to proposed improvements: "The Pennsylvania railroad system is always considering with all favor and dispatch possible the needs of the Pittsburgh district. Many improvements of importance are in store, but none can be specified at this time. Mr. Cassatt's visit is not the direct result of the recent Philadelphia conference, but it is simply one of his customary inspections and will be devoted largely to Pittsburgh. I understand that after he and his party arrive here, some time Tuesday, they will spend their time about Pittsburgh. No definite program has been arranged except Mr. Frick's reception, after which, I believe, Mr. Cassatt will return to Philadelphia."

The Thaws Return from Abroad.

NEW YORK, April 27.—(Special.) Among the arrivals on the American liner St. Louis today were Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., Miss E. B. Thaw and William Thaw of Pittsburgh.

THIEVES LAUGHED AS THEY PLUCKED AN EASY VICTIM

East End Man Robbed in a Street Car of $20 and an Ancient and Valuable Coin.

POLICE FIND NO TRACE

It is usually all that a man can be reasonably expected to bear to be robbed of $520, but to be rudely jostled in a crowded street car, and then laughed at for his remonstrances as the thieves quietly left the car with all his money, was entirely too much for the good nature of E. P. Williams of No. 5915 Harvard street last night.

That the citizens of Pittsburgh are still at the mercy of thieves was demonstrated by the circumstances of the robbery. Mr. Williams boarded a Fifth and Shady avenue car at Thirty-fourth street and Penn avenue at 7:30 o'clock last night. The car was crowded and he could find no seat. As a citizen of Pittsburgh he was accustomed to riding in crowded street cars and paid no attention to the everyday occurrence.

Clinging to a strap beside him was a well-dressed young man and behind him another, evidently a companion. Both of them had boarded the car at the same time as Mr. Williams. Each time that the car started up after a stop these men would seem to lose their balance and jostled rudely against the unsuspecting victim. He stood it for a time, but finally, concluded that they might make some effort to prevent the rough bumping, he mildly suggested some such course of action.

Both of the young fellows laughed at him for his remarks and tried to pass the affair off as a joke. Then they quietly disappeared. Shortly afterward Mr. Williams had occasion to look for his pocketbook, but it was gone. With it went $20 in cash and a Roman coin over 2,000 years old, valued at $500. The coin was greatly treasured by Mr. Williams, as it had been handed down for years as a family heirloom.

He notified the police at once and gave them a description of the two men who had jostled him in the car. Up to a late hour last night no trace of the men had been found.

COSTLY FREIGHT WRECK.

$50,000 Worth of Property Was Destroyed and Supposed Tramp Killed—Train Broke in Two.

KALAMAZOO, MICH., April 27.—A disastrous freight wreck occurred here this afternoon on the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad, in which one man lost his life and property valued at $50,000 was destroyed.

An extra freight broke in two on a grade two miles south of the city, and the two sections collided. Twenty cars left the track and piled up on either side of it. The contents of an oil car took fire and exploded, and four cars on the adjoining Grand Rapids & Indiana track and the blacksmith shop of Lull & Skinner's carriage factory was destroyed. The loss on the cars and shop is $25,000. The damage to the 20 Lake Shore cars is estimated at $25,000.

The badly burned body of a man, supposed to have been a tramp, was found after the flames had been extinguished. None of the train crew was injured.

SHIRT FACTORY BURNED.

Fire at Glens Falls, N. Y., Consumes Property Valued at Half a Million.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., April 27.—A disastrous fire visited Glens Falls today, causing a property loss estimated at over $500,000. The fire started in the clothing store of Webb Bros., on Glen street, and from thence spread to the large plant of the Joseph Fowler Shirt and Collar Company, occupying the upper story of nearly the entire block. Then, fanned by high wind, the flames communicated to neighboring buildings.

The destruction of the Fowler shirt plant throws nearly 800 operatives out of employment and 200 more will be out of work temporarily. It is thought the insurance will nearly cover the losses.

TELLING BLOW DEALT TO ELKIN ON SATURDAY

Of Twelve Delegates Elected He Did Not Secure One.

EXTRAVAGANT CLAIMS ARE NOT BORNE OUT

Four counties on Saturday elected a total of 12 delegates to the Republican state convention. None of them will favor the nomination of John P. Elkin for governor.

Greene was the only western county in the bunch. The one delegate from there will go along with Quay and the Republican organization. Lackawanna elected eight representatives to the state convention. They are pledged to Col. Louis A. Watres of Scranton, and on every ballot will vote as he directs. It is a safe prediction that they will never go to Elkin, although Congressman William Connell of Scranton has promised to help the Stone candidate. Clinton county elected two delegates and Wyoming one. These three will vote with the Republican organization.

Elkin had been hopeful of securing some of these delegates. Friday night he said that while he did not claim either Greene or Wyoming, he thought that he might get some assistance from these quarters.

This makes a total of 148 delegates elected out of the 378. Of this number 62 are claimed by Elkin, 16 are allowed Watres by the Elkin figures and the other, with the exception of Delaware's seven, who are for Senator Sproull, are put in the uninstructed class. There are still 35 counties to hold primaries and these elect a total of 240 delegates. In this list are Philadelphia, with 80, and Allegheny, with 76 votes. The friends of Elkin say that in the counties to be heard from their candidate will get 80 delegates, outside of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. This would bring him into the convention with 38 votes, less than the number required to nominate.

Chickens Not Hatched.

In regard to the 62 delegates that Elkin's friends now claim, there is good reason for believing that some chickens are counted that will not be in the Stone coop when needed. The claim that an additional 80 are to be secured outside of the two big counties is also considered extravagant in some well-informed quarters. It is difficult to see where many of the 80 can be bagged in the west, and this end of the state is the best hunting ground.

The Elkin managers are counting upon some counties west of the Alleghanies where surprises are in store for them.

In the east Elkin has been expecting to secure the delegates from Montgomery, Schuylkill, Dauphin and some others. The latest advices from there indicate that his hopes will be blasted. Dauphin will probably have a favorite son in Congressman M. E. Olmsted. Schuylkill organization leaders have gone to work to see that an anti-Elkin delegation will come from that county. District Attorney Holland of Montgomery will announce his candidacy for governor, and the delegates chosen on May 6 will no doubt be instructed for him. The Monroe county Republican leaders are preparing to elect a delegate from there in the interest of Col. L. A. Watres.

Some information was gotten yesterday concerning the attitude of Recorder J. O. Brown which does not indicate that Elkin can hope for much from this county. From a man who no doubt knows more about the intentions of the city recorder than any other person in Pittsburgh this forecast of what could be expected was secured:

Brown for the Winner.

"Any delegates that J. O. Brown can control will be given to the candidate who can do the most in return for the local organization. In other words, Brown intends to throw the votes he may have at his disposal to the candidate who will be nominated. As this will not be Elkin it is difficult to see how he can expect to be a beneficiary. Brown has been discreetly silent and it is likely that he will continue to be, for a time at least. Gov. Stone cannot remove him. He knows that it would injure Elkin to decapitate Brown. The author of the postscript fully realizes that he must keep in the background if his candidate is to have any hope of securing delegates. Stone is content to allow his ax to grow rusty."

Elkin went to Indiana yesterday and Quay spent the day in Beaver. He will probably remain there for a couple of days. He is well satisfied with the progress made in the gubernatorial contest. Elkin will likely return to the city not later than Friday. By that time Manager R. B. Scandrett is expected to have everything ready for the fight for delegates. So far there has been no evidence of a contest in the Sixth district.

Monster Cannon Nearly Finished.

16-Inch Rifle, Destined to Guard Entrance to New York Harbor, Will Shoot 21 Miles.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

TROY, N. Y., April 27.—The authorities at the Watervliet arsenal expect to complete work on the 16-inch gun, to be placed at Fort Hamilton (N. Y.) harbor, by June 1. The gun, which has been in the course of construction about four years, will be first sent to Sandy Hook for proving.

Last week the war department decided to mount the gun on a disappearing carriage. Its first trial is eagerly awaited by all the gunmakers of the world. It is claimed the gun will hurl a shell 21 miles. This is disputed by the Krupps, who claim that it will not throw the shot more than 15 miles. In order to discharge the gun it will require 1,000 pounds of powder and a 3,000-pound projectile. The gun when completed will weigh 150 tons.

THE LIFE SAVERS RESCUE CREW FROM A SHIP'S RIGGING

Wrecked Seamen Perched Aloft Nearly 16 Hours Awaiting Succor from Their Peril.

SCHOONER A TOTAL LOSS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, April 27.—Driving before a heavy westerly wind, the schooner Cornelia Soule, granite-laden and bound from Hurricane island for Philadelphia, was stranded on the bar south of Rockaway point on Saturday noon. Her crew of five men and the captain took refuge in the rigging, where they clung until 3:30 o'clock this morning, when life savers, who had been hard at work ever since she grounded, got a line over her and brought the crew and captain safely ashore in a breeches buoy. The vessel and her cargo will be a complete loss.

Capt. Abrams of the Rockaway Point life saving station says he has not known such a gale in years as that which blew Saturday. It was early Saturday morning when the attention of the life saving crew was drawn to the Soule. She was then only a mile off shore. When about a quarter of a mile away she tried to come about, but was unable to do so and was swept head on upon the sandbar. When her bow struck the bar she swung about broadside on and began to settle. For a few minutes it looked as if the crew would be swept off the deck, but they managed to clamber into the rigging. For a time at least they were safe, but seas kept sweeping over the vessel.

Capt. Abrams at once summoned Capt. Rinehart of the Arverne station to come to his help. Meanwhile the Rockaway beach crew prepared their life line and tried to shoot it over the schooner. Every effort proved futile and Capt. Abrams abandoned the work of rescue until Capt. Rinehart arrived with his crew; but to launch a boat would be suicide the captains decided.

All the afternoon and all the night the life savers worked in vain. At last, after 13 hours, the force of the wind abated and a line was shot over the wreck. It did not take long for the schooner's crew to get the breeches buoy into action, and then they were drawn to shore.

The captain, the last to leave, was John Burnell. He said the Cornelia Soule was owned by Carlos Barry of New London. There is no insurance on either vessel or cargo.

PITTSBURGH MEN OPEN NEW OIL FIELD

Kauffman & Bros. Secure Extensive Territory in West Virginia.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

KEYSER, W. VA., April 27.—After six months' exploitation Pittsburgh oil magnates have decided to open up extensive operations in Mineral, Grant and Pendleton counties and now have their rigs on the ground. The field is considered one of the best in the state and strikes the fifth sand at a depth of 2,000 feet.

Kauffman & Bros. of Pittsburgh closed a deal on Saturday for the Berry farm at Alaska, paying $3,000 down for a property that would not bring $450 one year ago. They are negotiating for the Charles S. Young farm of 400 acres, two miles below. Profiting from the experience of the farmers in the Salem section, no options are given.

The Kauffmans, it is said, have a rich prize in the Berry farm. Their purchase was prompted by the discovery of a pool on low ground where a big spring exists, the waters of which have always been known to be covered with oil. This was drained and experts declared the spot a natural flow. Part of the new oil territory is located on the south branch of the Potomac. Heavy leases have been taken out and test wells in the Alaska and South Branch country are going down.

Leases have also been taken up by Pittsburgh and Philadelphia oil operators near Franklin, Pendleton county, a section that, it is believed, will develop better than the oil fields in the Kanawha country.

DISFIGURED FACE BLAMED ON GIRL'S SISTER-IN-LAW

Young Woman Says Her Relative Threw Carbolic Acid Upon Her.

COUNTER CHARGES MADE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wheeling, W. Va., April 27.—The police are trying to unravel the circumstances connected with the carbolic acid burning of the face of Miss Ruth McIlwaine, a pretty young woman, who was taken to the City hospital yesterday for treatment, and who is in a serious condition.

The girl has been making her home with her sister-in-law, Mrs. McElroy. Her story is that she asked for a sum of money belonging to her, which Mrs. McElroy agreed to turn over on condition that she would allow herself to be blindfolded so the hiding place of the money would not be revealed to her. She says Mrs. McElroy first put ether under her nose, and that she struggled with her. While she was trying to get the bandage from her eyes she claims that her sister-in-law dashed carbolic acid into her face. She will be disfigured for life.

Mrs. McElroy, whose hands were burned with the acid, told the police that Ruth tried to swallow the acid with suicidal intent and that it was spilled upon both of them while they were struggling for possession of the bottle.

SCHLEY AT MEMPHIS.

Tennesseans Have Made Elaborate Preparations to Honor the Hero of Santiago.

MEMPHIS, TENN., April 27.—Rear Admiral and Mrs. W. S. Schley arrived in Memphis over the Southern railway this evening and were at once driven to the Gayoso hotel. A reception committee met the visitors at Grand Junction and escorted them to Memphis.

It was the wish of Admiral and Mrs. Schley that there should be no demonstration in their honor upon their arrival, but several hundred people were at the union station to bid them welcome.

Admiral Schley will be the guest of the city until Wednesday night, when he will start for a visit to several cities in Mississippi. A parade will be given tomorrow in honor of the admiral and his wife. In the afternoon a silver service will be presented to him and in the evening a banquet will be tendered him. On Tuesday morning there will be a reception at the cotton exchange and in the afternoon a regatta excursion on the Mississippi. At night there will be a grand ball under the auspices of the ladies of Memphis. On Wednesday the admiral will be entertained by his Masonic brethren, who have prepared an entertaining program in his honor.

TUSKEGEE REJOICES.

Completed Library Building, the Gift of Andrew Carnegie, to Be Dedicated Tomorrow.

TUSKEGEE, ALA., April 27.—(Special.)—The new Carnegie library in this city will be dedicated on Tuesday with appropriate ceremonies in which many distinguished persons who are interested in the education of the colored race will take part.

A delegation from the Southern Educational association, which has just concluded a convention at Athens, Ga., will be present, including Bishop McVicker of Rhode Island. This delegation will afterward pay a visit to the Tuskegee Normal institute, of which Booker T. Washington is president.

LYONS SUES FOR DAMAGES

Former Husband of Camille d'Arville Wants $50,000 for the Loss of Her Affection.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—Andrew W. Lyons, formerly an acrobat, has brought suit in this city against E. W. Crellin, husband of Camille d'Arville, the opera singer, for $50,000, charging the alienation of his wife's affections. In his complaint Lyons alleges that he was the former husband of Mrs. Crellin, she having obtained a divorce in Chicago without his knowledge and subsequently married Crellin.

Mrs. Crellin is now in Pittsburgh appearing in vaudeville.

having been employed in the mills as a roller since he was 17 years old.

Reuben S. Cramer died yesterday afternoon of a dose of laudanum, taken supposedly with suicidal intent on Saturday night. He lived with his wife and eight children at No. 702 Lobenger street, Braddock.

Cramer was a book agent. During the past week business had been bad with him and he became despondent. On Saturday night he came home intoxicated and went directly upstairs to bed.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Cramer, who was sleeping with some of the children, was awakened by her husband's groans. She went into his room and found him unconscious. A laudanum bottle was lying on the floor. She immediately sent for a physician, but despite his ministrations Cramer died after some hours' suffering.

PRAYERS FOR CORRIGAN.

New York Churches Offer Petitions For the Recovery of the Archbishop.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The physicians in attendance on Archbishop Corrigan visited him today about 10 o'clock and after a consultation upon the morning's developments, the following bulletin was issued:

"The Archbishop's condition is in all respects satisfactory."

Father Curley, Archbishop Corrigan's secretary, said the patient's condition was so far improved that the doctors had decided to add to his diet of kumyss, small portions of broth, salads and beef.

At St. Patrick's cathedral, Father Patrick McAleer, who delivered the sermon at high mass, announced from the pulpit to the satisfaction of the large number present the hopeful condition of the prelate and delivered a prayer for his speedy recovery. From the pulpits throughout the city prayers were offered for the archbishop's speedy recovery.

Referring to a cablegram from Rome printed today that the pope had dictated letters to the American bishops with a view to making Archbishop Corrigan a cardinal, Father Curley said the report was not true.

GOOD WORK REVIEWED.

American Seaman's Friend Society Celebrates Its 74th Anniversary. Libraries Furnished Sailors.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The American Seaman's Friend society celebrated its seventy-fourth anniversary today at the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, the annual sermon being preached by the pastor, the Rev. Rufus P. Johnston.

The annual report shows that the society has sent out on different vessels 292 ton of libraries, the total number of volumes being 12,356 and 3,870 new volumes which were available during the year to 3,429 seamen. The number of libraries placed on the United States naval vessels and at the United States hospital has been 1,068, containing 39,919 volumes and these have been accessible to 125,313 men. In the stations of the United States lifesaving service are 161 libraries containing 6,293 books accessible to 1,315 men.

The annual meeting of the society will be held Monday, May 5, in this city.

SPARK CAUSED A FIRE.

Double House in Versailles Township Was Burned to the Ground Last Evening.

A two-story, double frame house near the Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks in Versailles township, occupied by the families of Thomas Jackson and William Lewis, and owned by B. Laney of McKeesport, was burned to the ground about 5 o'clock Saturday evening. The fire is supposed to have originated from a spark falling on the roof from a passing engine.

Both families lost all their furniture. The homes of Girard McElwee and Reese Davis were also damaged. The town has no protection against fire and all that could be done was to fight the flames with a bucket brigade. The loss will be about $2,500 partially insured.

THE WEATHER.

After a coy behavior unusual even in Pittsburgh in the month of April, "Old Sol" has whispered to the weather man that he will be on deck bright and early this morning, and that he will do his best to make up for the murky, blustery weather of the past few days. He made good a promise of a similar sort last Tuesday, but he went to work with such a vengance that before he had quit for the day eight men had been prostrated by the heat in Pittsburgh and Allegheny alone. In order to make up for this, the prediction is that he will be on his best behavior today and give humanity a chance to bask to their hearts' content. Yesterday was a sultan sort of a day, with not enough real sunshine to make up for the chill of the wind. The highest temperature, between 8 a. m. and 8 p. m., was 63 degrees, and the lowest 40 degrees.

EX-SECRETARY MORTON IS DEAD FROM APOPLEXY

Former Head of Agricultural Department Expires Near Chicago.

SERVED WITH CLEVELAND

Was the Author of Arbor Day and Constantly Urged the Planting of Trees—Died on His Birthday at the Age of 70 Years.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, April 27.—The Hon. J. Sterling Morton, former secretary of agriculture, died at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at Lake Forest, at the home of his son, Mark Morton. For several weeks Mr. Morton had been gradually failing. The nature of his illness had not been determined, and a week ago he was brought from his home at Nebraska City, Neb., to Lake Forest for medical attendance. The change brought no improvement, and he failed gradually until death came.

The interment will be at Nebraska City. A special train bearing the remains of Mr. Morton and members of his family and friends will leave Lake Forest Tuesday afternoon for Nebraska City.

Death was due to cerebral thrombus. Mr. Morton's illness began several months ago and in hopes that a change of climate would restore his health he went to the City of Mexico, accompanied by his son, Paul Morton, vice president of the Santa Fe railroad. Mr. Morton continued to grow worse in the southern country, however, and six weeks ago he returned to his old home in Nebraska.

Sons at His Bedside.

Last week he suffered a stroke of apoplexy, from which he never recovered. He suffered a second stroke today, and as he had become so weak from his long sickness it proved fatal. His three sons, Paul Morton, Joy Morton and Mark Morton, were at the bedside when the end came.

Mr. Morton was in Washington for four years as secretary of agriculture in President Cleveland's second administration. He was a man of steadfast convictions, unswerving honesty and undoubted ability. By nature a controversialist, Mr. Morton entered the cabinet with many fixed ideas about the government service. He was a practical farmer and ran his department along practical lines, but, nevertheless, not without many squabbles. He regarded the disribution of seeds as paternalistic and on that subject found himself in opposition to congress.

The ex-secretary was the author of arbor day, April 22, which began to be observed generally during his incumbency as head of the department of agriculture, and is now generally observed in all the states. His constant motto was to "plant trees," having it stamped in large letters under a picture of a tree on his stationery.

Died on His Birthday.

He was an inveterate letter writer. He found keen enjoyment in answering the communications from farmers.

The ex-secretary was exactly 70 years old today, having died on the anniversary of his birthday. He was of Scotch-English descent. He was born in Jefferson county, N. Y., but his parents moved to Michigan when he was very young. He was a graduate of Union college, N. Y. Mr. Morton was connected editorially for a time with the Detroit Free Press and the Chicago Times, and then located at Bellevue, Neb., November, 1854, where in April following he issued the first number of the Nebraska City News.

He was elected to the territorial legislature the same year, and re-elected in 1857. He was appointed secretary of the territory in 1858, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Thomas B. Cuming, and served until May, 1861, part of the time as acting governor. He was elected to congress in 1860, but was unseated as the result of a contest. He was four times nominated by his party as governor of Nebraska, but was defeated each time.

He was a stalwart "gold man" and had an early falling out with W. J. Bryan, whose political aspirations he vigorously opposed. He was identified officially with many agricultural and horticultural organizations.

FOUND IN THE RIVER.

Body of an Unknown Man Discovered Near the Point Bridge.

The body of a drowned man, supposed to be that of Thomas Mulvehill, was found in the Ohio river yesterday morning just below the Point bridge, by several rivermen. The body was floating down the river when discovered, and was immediately removed to the morgue. There was $75 75 and a traction employe's pass book, marked No. 1324, found on his person.

The pass book and several pay envelopes addressed to Thomas Mulvehill were also found in his pockets. Deputy Coroner James Loughrey communicated with the traction company authorities, and they say they had no such person in their employment.

to the market the shipper would know that they would be bought by the big packers, as the smaller dealer could not buy cattle in such large quantities.

"The agents of the packers agree on the prices they will pay for the cattle. They adhere to this agreement. One man buys the cattle at the price agreed upon and then divides them with the other packers. I have no doubt also that they have the same kind of an agreement in regard to the prices of dressed meat. The advance in the price of live stock is to some extent due to the increase in the price of feed, but this alone does not account for the advances that have been made in the price of dressed meats. It is estimated that an increase of 10 cents in the price of corn means an advance of a cent a pound in the price of the bullock.

Price Is Too High.

"While the increased cost of corn has advanced the live stock proportionately the prices of dressed meats are much higher than they should be in proportion to the price of live stock.

"I have no doubt that Attorney General Knox has evidence to show that the western packers are working under an agreement, but I doubt whether he will be able to prove that there is a trust; but still he may."

Mr. Rush sells live stock in the East Liberty market. He said that he had noticed a large falling off in the purchases of butchers in the last few weeks, since the agitation against the beef trust started. The butchers said they were not selling nearly as much meat as formerly and were, therefore, obliged to buy less cattle.

Mr. Rush said he thought the market would be relieved somewhat in May, as the Texas grass-fed cattle would begin to arrive then. The Texas cattle are of lower grade than the western cattle, but their addition to the market is expected to keep prices down near the present mark.

Packers Are Alarmed.

A prominent meat man said yesterday that the western packers are thoroughly alarmed at the public sentiment that has been aroused against them by the newspapers and for the present are disposed to be more conservative, hoping that the agitation will speedily blow over. Arrangements had been made by the trust to start a number of retail stores in the Pittsburgh district, where independent competition is keen, but it is stated on good authority that these plans have been deferred until a more propitious season.

A traveling salesman for a local meat house said yesterday that he had observed the butchers in the small towns are suffering more from the effects of the high prices than the butchers in the city. In Pittsburgh a large part of the butchers' trade is cash. In the small towns it is necessarily more on a credit basis. The increase in prices also increasing the amounts which the butcher must carry on his books, although he has to pay cash to the wholesaler for his goods. The result is that the butcher can no longer buy or trust. If he cannot do that he must quit business. One of the largest retailers in Charleroi went into bankruptcy within the past two weeks as a result of the high prices.

LABOR DENOUNCES BEEF TRUST'S ACTS

Resolutions Passed Last Night by United Labor League Demand Intervention of Government.

The United Labor League of Western Pennsylvania, representing fully 50,000 organized workingmen in the Pittsburgh district, at its regular meeting last night put its stamp of disapproval on the meat trust. Nothing like an out-and-out boycott was attempted, but it was voted, as the sense of the organization, that the constituency represented refrain as much as possible from contributing to the gain of the meat combine. Some of the delegates talked for more stringent action, but it was urged that, since President Roosevelt and Attorney General Knox have taken up the issue, the pernicious practices of the combine may soon be brought to an end. The following resolutions were adopted by unanimous vote:

"Whereas, The increase in the prices of meat throughout the United States by what is known as the 'Meat Trust' is working a great hardship among the toiling masses of this city, and the country; and

"Whereas, Beef, mutton and pork are an absolute necessity for the proper sustenance of life and strength, and to be deprived of them by exorbitant prices simply to enrich a greedy corporation would ultimately tend to weaken the strength of the wage earner, and make him less able to perform this daily labor; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the United Labor League of Western Pennsylvania strongly condemns the inhuman action of the combination known as the 'Meat Trust,' in increasing prices of meat and demands the intervention of the state and federal authorities to immediately stop this unlawful conspiracy for private gain on a food which is an absolute necessity to all workers; and be it further

"Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the president and attorney general of the United States, the governor and attorny general of this commonwealth, the two senators and members of congress, representing our several districts.

TRUST PROMISES RELIEF.

Republican Club Forces a Statement That Prices Will Be Near Former Level in a Month.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Relief is promised definitely from the present abnormal prices of meats within a month. This statement will appear in the Press tomorrow, which will also say:

"The promise of relief was made last (Sunday) night by Ferdinand Sulzberger, one of the 'Big Six,' when he was conferring with the members of the committee of investigation appointed by the Republican club of this city. This conference was only preliminary to the important one to be held in Washington with all of the meat barons.

"'I can say with assurance,' he said, when pressed for some promise of relief, 'that in a month from now prices will have sought their former level, or close to it, and that that level will be found soon thereafter. I can make that promise because there will be an influx by that time of the new grass-fed cattle from Texas.'"

The conference to be held in Washington will be held Thursday. As it is to be a secret session the place chosen probably will not be made known in advance. Those at the conference will be G. F. Swift, Ogden Armour, J. Lyman of Hammond & Co., Edward Morris of Nelson Morris & Co., Michael Cudahy and Fernand Sulzberger of Schwarschild & Sulzberger. These men will confer in Washington with Attorney General Davies of this state and Alfred L. Bullowa, Senator Samuel S. Slater and James W. Hawes, members of the committee appointed by the Republican club to investigate the meat question.

LABOR CRIES FOR RELIEF.

New York Workers Ask for Suspension of Tax on Foreign Meats.

NEW YORK, April 27.—(Special.)—The Central Federated union at its regular meeting this afternoon adopted resolutions calling upon the American Federation of Labor to assist in urging congress to remove the tax on foreign meats until such time as the oppressive operations of the beef trust shall be ended.

There was a revival of the proposition to boycott all trust meat and many of the delegates said such a course would soon be taken by the union if speedy action is not taken by the Federal government.

KILLED IN A CHARGE.

Body of a Young Pittsburgh Soldier on Its Way Here from the Philippines.

The body of Corporal John D. Campbell is expected to arrive from Manila in a few days. Campbell was a member of Company D, Fifth United States infantry, having enlisted in Pittsburgh. His home was at 216 Eleanor street, Twenty-seventh ward, but his mother and sisters moved to McKeesport two years ago, after his death in the Philippines. Families living in Eleanor street who knew Campbell say that he was a bright boy and very popular in the ward. He was only 18 years old when he enlisted three years ago.

Mrs. M. J. Campbell, the mother, is in possession of a strange souvenir of her son, a newspaper that he carried folded up in his shirt pocket. It has 32 perforations, made by the Filipino bullet that slew the young soldier.

The paper is a copy of a Michigan weekly of the date of December 14, 1900. It was taken from Campbell's body by his first sergeant, John R. Corfield, who sent it to the editor. From him it was forwarded to Mrs. Campbell. Corfield wrote that Campbell and four other members of the company were killed at Batioto while charging a company of Filipinos on February 2, 1901.

BLAZE AT SOUTH BEACH.

Summer Resort On Staten Island Visited by $150,000 Fire. Origin Incendiary.

NEW YORK, April 27.—South Beach, a bathing resort on the Staten Island shore just outside the Narrows, was fire swept tonight, every structure along the beach for a distance of 2,500 feet being destroyed, involving a loss estimated at $150,000. The resort is not yet open for the season and most of the places destroyed were untenanted.

The fire started under the music hall of the Casino of Albert Hergenham, who with his wife and two waiters, had come down in the morning to prepare the place for the opening of the season. As the music hall had not been opened, it is suspected that the fire was of incendiary origin. In a few minutes the whole structure was ablaze and before the engines could be summoned from Stapleton the flames had attacked the frame structures on either side and were traveling fast east and west along the beach. The spread of the fire was finally checked to the westward and at Miller's hotel, which was badly damaged.

In the other direction the flames ran to the extreme end of the beach. The principal structures destroyed in addition to the casino were Walsh's hotel and Wightman's "Aquarama." Most of the loss falls on Bachman, the Staten Island brewer, who owned Walsh's and Hergenham's places. It is said that there was little insurance.

CONFLICT FOR CORPSE.

Women Win and Yuen Is the First Chinaman to Be Buried in New York With Christian Rites.

NEW YORK, April 27.—(Special.)—David Yuen, a Chinaman, died last Thursday. He was a member of the Greene Avenue Baptist church.

When Yuen died his heathen brethren planned for an orthodox heathen funeral. Preparations were going forward when in walked Mrs. Lucy Beach, superintendent of a mission, and 13 other women and demanded custody of the body and a Christian burial for Yuen. The Chinamen said, "No." The women said, "Yes." The women won. They bore the body away to Evergreen cemetery. Yuen was the first Chinaman ever buried within Greater New York with Christian rites, so far as is known.

GERMAN STEAMERS GO TO SYNDICATE

TERMS OF MORGAN AGREEMENT PUBLISHED IN HAMBURG.

Owners of the Lines Preserve Their Independence in Avoiding Competition. Get Better Bargain Than the English Shippers—Other Transfers Reported.

[Associated Press Cable to the Gazette.]

HAMBURG, April 27.—An official statement of the terms of the agreement between the German steamship lines and the syndicate formed by J. Pierpont Morgan is published here. The agreement between the Hamburg-American Packet Company and Mr. Morgan, it appears, was concluded last March.

Under the agreement it is claimed the German lines have preserved their independence in every respect. The syndicate is bound not to send a ship to any German harbor without permission of the German lines, which in turn bind themselves not to increase their present traffic from England to the United States beyond a certain fixed point. Many other causes in the agreement aim at preventing competition between the syndicate and the German lines.

Neither may acquire shares in the other, but they are to mutually support each other by chartering steamers or otherwise, in fighting competing third parties.

A committee is to be formed, consisting of two representatives of the syndicates and two representatives of the German lines for the settlement of all questions concerning their mutual interests. The committee will have no executive power and any differences in construing clauses of the agreement must be submitted to arbitration.

The duration of the agreement is limited to 20 years, but either may terminate it after ten years, or demand a revision of the contract, and withdraw if revision is refused.

LONDON, April 28.—The Daily Mail, in an editorial on the terms of the agreement between the German steamship lines and the Morgan Anglo-American steamship syndicate, declares that the birthright of British shipping seems to have been sold for something very like a message of pottage.

"The Germans," says the Daily Mail, "have made a good bargain because the German government was wide awake, whilst the British government ignored warnings and laughed at threatened peril. "It is high time," the article concludes, "that both the nation and the government awoke to their peril."

BRUSSELS, April 28.—It is announced here from Antwerp that the Red Star, and from Rotterdam that the Holland-America, lines have joined the shipping combine.

Kept Out of the Meeting Hall and Roughly Handled—Temporary Organization Formed to Displace Them—Fight to Be Carried Higher.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cincinnati, O., April 27.—Serious trouble was narrowly averted today at a meeting called to organize a local union of stationary engineers, to take the place of Union No. 18, whose charter was recently revoked in connection with the protracted trouble between the engineers and the United Brewery Workers.

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor ten days ago ordered the engineers to shut off steam in breweries employing non-union men. The brewery proprietors secured an injunction. When the engineers complied with the order of the court, which was in conflict with the order of the federation, their charter was revoked.

The old officers and members of union No. 18 appeared at Workmen's hall today to explain that their charter had not been regularly or legally revoked and to protest against organizing a new local union until the order of the court should be disposed of. None of these old members were admitted to the mail and some of them were roughly handled on the outside.

A temporary union was afterward organized. This new union will send its application at once to the international union for admission and a meeting will be held here next Sunday to perfect a permanent organization under the new charter, which is expected by that time. None of the engineers employed in the breweries in Cincinnati, Newport and Covington joined the new union.

The fight today has intensified the feeling here among those involved in the brewery lockout, which has been in progress for months.

KRAMER DEFEATED.

Franz Krebs Rides Away from National Champion in Half-Mile Open Race.

NEWARK, N. J., April 27.—Stiff winds and chilly atmosphere kept the attendance at the Vailsburg bicycle track down to 4,000 today. The surprise of the day came in the half-mile open for professionals in which both the national champion, Frank Kramer, and Floyd McFarland, were beaten from scratch by young Franz Krebs, who won rather easily by a yard. Kramer was beaten again in the two-mile handicap, this time by Collett of New Haven. Summaries:

Half-mile, handicap (amateur)—Won by Ernest Holbrook, Boston (40 yards); Edward Bailey, New York (25 yards), second; Joseph Fogler, Brooklyn (45 yards), third; T. C. Ward, Newark (30 yards), fourth. Time, 1:05 4-5.

Half-mile open, professional—Won by Franz Krebs, Brooklyn; Frank Kramer, East Orange, second; Floyd McFarland, San Jose, Cal., third. Time, 1:08 4-5.

Ten mile open, amateur—Won by George Glasson, Newark; "Teddy" Billington, Vailsburg, second; Oscar Georke, Brooklyn, third; Fred Ernst, Rochester, fourth. Time, 24:48.

Two mile handicap, professional—Won by George M. Collett, New Haven, (60 yards); Frank Kramer, East Orange (scratch), second; W. S. Fenn, Bristol (scratch), third; Floyd McFarland, San Jose (scratch), fourth. Time, 4:26 1-5.

SIMON C. LONG WILL RETURN TO PITTSBURGH

Former Official Here Made Superintendent of the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley Division.

Many employes of the Pennsylvania railroad in this city will remember Simon C. Long, the new superintendent of the low-grade and river divisions of the Buffalo and Allegheny valley division of the road. At one time he served the Pennsylvania in this city. Mr. Long, who was appointed to the position about a week ago, will take up his new duties here Thursday. He is expected to arrive in Pittsburgh early this week. He succeeds Charles B. Price, whose resignation was announced some time ago.

Mr. Long was born at Harrisburg in 1857. He is an alumnus of Lafayette college, class of 1877. His first railroad service was with the Philadelphia & Reading, entering the company's service as a civil engineer. After a few years with the Reading he entered the service of the Pennsylvania railroad, with which he has been connected ever since. He worked up in the operating department in the manner customary on that road, advancing by the stages of rodman and transitman to assistant supervisor and supervisor and assistant engineer to superintendent. He was assistant supervisor of the company's yards at Pittsburgh in 1882. Two years later he became assistant supervisor at Wall, or, as it is now known, Pitcairn. In 1885 he was made supervisor of the Monongahela division. He served as assistant engineer on several of the eastern divisions and within the past few years was appointed superintendent of the Bedford division, which position he leaves to come to Pittsburgh.

SIMON C. LONG,
Who Has Been Appointed Superintendent of the Low Grade and River Division of the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Labor Leaders at War---Commissioner Durham's Report

GOMPERS EXPECTED IN WHEELING TODAY

CLIMAX TO BE REACHED

Controversy With Shaffer to Get Finishing Touches in Convention.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WHEELING, W. VA., April 27.—The famous labor controversy in which President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor and President Theodore Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers have played the star roles bids fair to have a climax tomorrow or Tuesday at sessions of the latter organization now in progress in this city.

As related in these dispatches, T. H. Flynn, a national organizer of the Federation, came to Wheeling late last week and made a bitter attack upon Shaffer in answering the charges the latter had made against Gompers. Saturday Flynn left the city supposedly for Pittsburgh, but his friends of the Tighe faction assert he will return tomorrow and again demand the floor of the convention, not only for himself, but for his chief, Gompers, as well, for it leaks out that Gompers has been asked to come here on Monday to co-operate with his representative.

It is supposed Gompers will arrive from Washington early Monday morning. Whether the Shaffer faction, which asserted Saturday that Flynn would never be accorded the privilege of the floor of the convention, will have the temerity to refuse to grant a hearing to their overlord, Gompers, is not known, for it is known to but few that Gompers has been asked to come here tomorrow.

The quarrel has become very bitter, and it would not be surprising if the Shaffer people declined to grant Gompers a hearing. The situation is decidedly critical and unless the cooler heads prevail a disastrous labor split is not among the improbabilities.

The fight for the presidency continues in much the same condition, but the visit of Gompers and Flynn and the showing Shaffer will make in confronting them doubtless will have a decisive influence one way or the other. Should Shaffer meet defeat in his clash with the chief of the Federation, Assistant Secretary Tighe doubtless will succeed to the presidency, but in the event of Shaffer coming well out of that fight his prestige will have increased and his election to succeed himself will be a certainty.

Greene County Primaries.

WAYNESBURG, PA., April 27.—(Special.)—At the Republican primary held in Greene county yesterday the Hon. D. S. Walton was nominated for congress, Capt. J. P. Teagarden for state senate, W. L. Ingram for county commissioner and T. R. Stockdale for county auditor. The principal fight was for the office of county commissioner and the county organization. The latter is yet undetermined.

To Rebuild Brick Works.

BOLIVAR, PA., April 27.—(Special.)—The Reese-Hammond Fire Brick Company yesterday closed a contract with E. M. Lockard of Indiana, Pa., for the reconstruction of their works at this place that were recently destroyed by fire. The new buildings are to be of brick and stone. Work on the foundations will be commenced tomorrow.

TRUSTEE MURDERED AT DOOR OF CHURCH

Fatal Shooting at Hazelton During Greek Easter Services.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HAZLETON, PA., April 27.—Michael Cherko, aged 36 years, was murdered about 100 feet from the Greek Catholic church at Freeland this morning during the progress of the Greek Easter services.

George Smith is under arrest, charged with having committed the crime. It is alleged that Smith, upon entering the church, failed to remove his hat, and when requested to do so by Cherko, one of the trustees, he drew a black-jack and assaulted Cherko. The latter ran out the door followed by Smith. Cherko had not gone far when Smith, drawing a revolver, shot him through the back, death being instantaneous.

Friends of the dead man overpowered Smith and took him to the station-house. The services came to an abrupt termination amid great excitement.

THREE LIVES LOST.

Schooner Barklow Wrecked Off Put-In-Bay and Skipper, Wife and Stepson Drown.

SANDUSKY, O., April 27.—The schooner Barklow, from Marine City, foundered in Lake Erie, half a mile from Put-in-Bay, late Saturday afternoon and three lives were lost. The dead are Captain Robert Pardy of Marine City, his wife and his stepson, Alexander Morris, aged 16 years. Dick Burke, a sailor of Fort Huron, survived the wreck and was brought to Sandusky today by the lifesaving crew from that port who had tried several times during the night to reach the wreck.

According to Burke's story, when the boat seemed hopelessly in the power of the fearful storm, the party got into the rigging, the captain, his wife and Morris on the lee side of the boat. The boat soon filled with water and careened, throwing the three persons and drowning them.

Burke retained his position in the rigging, having fallen asleep from exhaustion, and was thus found by the lifesaving crew today. The body of Captain Pardy and young Morris are still unrecovered, but that of Mrs. Pardy washed ashore at Put-in-Bay.

KILLED DURING A RAID.

An Italian Shot Dead in a Battle Between Officers and Speakeasy Proprietors.

UNIONTOWN, PA., April 27.—(Special.)—An unknown Italian was killed in an encounter between speakeasy keepers and a posse of officers under County Detective McBeth at Chamount last night.

McBeth left here yesterday to raid the speakeasies along the extension of the Lake Shore railroad. About 10 o'clock the posse raided the camps during the height of the carousing and the venders showed fight. A shot was fired and a regular battle followed, over 100 shots being fired. The sheriff and coroner are at Chamount investigating the affair.

Monastery Destroyed by Fire.

EBENSBURG, PA., April 27.—(Special.)—This afternoon the monastery of the Benedictine Brothers at Carrolltown burned to the ground with all its contents, incurring a very heavy loss. The building destroyed was built of brick. It had been occupied for several years by six or seven monks from St. Vincent's monastery at Beatty, Pa. The building was partially insured.

INSURANCE BUSINESS SHOWS INCREASE FOR YEAR

REPORT OF DEPARTMENT

Commissioner Durham Gives Comparative Figures for 1900 and 1901.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, PA., April 27.—The 29th annual report of the insurance department, showing the condition on December 31, 1901, of the fire and marine insurance companies doing business in Pennsylvania, has just been completed by Commissioner Durham. The following statement shows in brief the condition and business of the joint stock companies of the commonwealth in 1901 contrasted with that of 1900:

	1900.	1901.
Number of companies	36	32
Assets	$ 45,468,198	$ 45,490,109
Liabilities, except capital	23,611,707	25,204,980
Capital	11,702,875	10,962,875
Surplus	10,166,584	9,382,344
Premiums received	17,071,288	19,580,851
Total receipts	20,653,184	21,901,947
Losses paid	11,978,839	11,682,581
Dividends paid	1,248,969	1,183,581
Total disbursements	20,747,335	20,779,589
Risks in force	2,802,971,128	2,852,180,526

The following summary shows the total business of stock companies authorized to do business in the state during the past year: Risks written, $23,057,215,107; premiums received, $157,672,094 61; losses paid, $92,715,969 13; marine and inland risks written, $4,523,325,930; premiums received, $13,603,000 12; losses paid, $6,857,930 82.

The following summary exhibits in a condensed form the entire business of stock companies of Pennsylvania during the year:

Premium income, $19,560,850 91; losses and expenses, $10,596,008 56; miscellaneous income, $2,340,795 87; total net income, $2,305,638 22; dividends, $1,183,581; excess of income over expenses, $1,122,057 22.

During the past year there were no mutual companies organized for any purpose whatever. The Doylestown Mutual Insurance Company, Farmers Mutual Live Stock Company of Jackson Center and Pennsboro Mutual Horse Insurance and Detective Company retired, and failed to make any report during the year.

The following table shows the business done by the Mutual Fire Insurance Company during the year 1901: Mean amount at risk, $704,859,326; risks written, $202,660,154; cash premiums and assessments, $2,381,637 44; losses paid, $1,390,988 67.

The receipts of the department from fees of office from January 1 to December 31, 1901, amounted to $85,870 71. The expenditures for the same period were $21,210 45.

STORM CAUSED DEATH.

One Man Killed By the Fall of an Oil Derrick Near McDonald.

M'DONALD, PA., April 27.—(Special.)—Another wind storm swept over this valley yesterday which caused great damage to property and the loss of one life. An unknown Italian was killed. In company with several other employes of the Wabash extension he was assisting in moving one of the large steam shovels and at noon they stopped to eat their dinners alongside of an oil derrick. While in the midst of their meal the derrick was blown down, instantly killing the Italian. All his companions escaped injury.

L. Lebley and J. A. Webster, a superintendent of the Forest Oil Company, had a very narrow escape. They were returning from shooting an oil well and a derrick blew down, some of the fragments striking the wagon they were in. The wagon contained several quarts of nitroglycerin. About 200 oil derricks, principally owned by the Forest Oil Company and the Big Four Company, were blown down. Some of them were new, having been built since the storm of Easter Sunday.

BURGLARS AT SHARON.

Five Residences Entered and Considerable Property Stolen. Woman Frightens Them.

SHARON, PA., April 27.—(Special.)—Last night the residences of Frederick Hoelzle, Frank Malcomb, A. C. Rankin and Sidney Gibson, on Prospect Heights, were entered by burglars and a large amount of silverware and money stolen.

An attempt was made to rob the residence of Mrs. Gerhardt Wenglar of No. 512 East State street. Mrs. Wenglar was awakened by someone walking about the room. Sitting up in bed, she could distinguish two men at work near a dresser, and she screamed for help. When the burglars fled she secured an old army musket and fired at them through the window, but failed to hit them. The fact that Mrs. Wenglar a short time ago disposed of a piece of property and was supposed to have money in the house is thought to have led to the attempted robbery. The police have no clue.

RIPPING OF PITTSBURGH.

George W. Guthrie Will Tell Municipal Leaguers About It.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., April 27.—The program of the eighth annual meeting of the National Municipal league and the tenth national conference for good city government to be held at Boston, May 7, 8 and 9 has been completed. The president of the league is James C. Carter of New York.

Friday morning the Pittsburgh political overturn will be discussed by George W. Guthrie of that city, who was chairman of the Citizens committee.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

NEW KENSINGTON, PA.—The local Benevolent Protective Order of Elks has decided to build a club house.

CORRY, PA.—Plans have been completed for the erection in this city of a theater to be opened Thanksgiving night. It will cost $75,000.

MARIETTA, O.—The non-union iron industries here, employing moulders, will increase wages 5 per cent, the second increase in three years.

GALION, O.—A 10 per cent increase in wages goes into effect today for the employes of the Flickinger Wheel Company and of the Wagon & Gear Company.

ZANESVILLE, O.—John Lowe, a coal miner whose home is Leesville, Carroll county, where he leaves a widow and five children, was killed by a Baltimore & Ohio train here.

GLENVILLE, W. VA.—Charlie, the 12-year-old son of Peter Hess, who lives about three miles from here, accidentally shot and killed his brother, aged 3 years, yesterday.

ALTOONA, PA.—The cornerstone of the new Fifth Avenue Methodist church of this city was laid yesterday with imposing ceremony in the presence of 10,000 people, by the Rev. H. C. Pardoe.

ASHTABULA, O.—The schooner Pretoria, which went aground off this port, is full of water. It was found necessary to cut a hole in the deck and take off one of the hatches during the storm. The crew was taken off safely.

NEW KENSINGTON, PA.—The Rev. Newell S. Fiscus, who has been in charge of the First Presbyterian congregation of this town for four years, yesterday tendered his resignation on account of his having received a call to the First Presbyterian church of Moscow, Idaho.

Four More Bodies Recovered.

CAIRO, ILL., April 27.—Four more bodies of the victims of the City of Pittsburgh wreck were recovered today, making 40 to date. One was identified as that of Joseph Redding, a striking engineer of Louisville. The other three were colored, two men and one woman.

GOVERNMENT LOSES IN FRENCH ELECTION

Paris Defeats Ministerialist Candidates for Chamber of Deputies.

A NATIONALIST VICTORY

[Associated Press Cable to the Gazette.]

PARIS, April 27.—Paris has not elected a single Ministerialist to the chamber of deputies. Eight Nationalists, six anti-Ministerialist Socialists, four anti-Ministerialist Republicans and three Conservatives were returned. It was the worst defeat the government has ever sustained in Paris.

The Ministerialists lost four seats and another new constituency was won by the Nationalists. The deputies elected include M. M. Millevoye (Nationalist), Georges Berry (Nationalist), Lockroy (Radical) and Vaillant (Revolutionary Social), who were members of the retiring chamber, and M. Flourens (Progressist), M. Mesureur (Radical Socialist), a retiring deputy, was replaced by M. Syveton (Nationalist).

Rebalioting will occur in 29 districts. The Nationalists, however, suffered a severe check in Algiers, where M. Drumont, the notorious anti-Semite, was turned out by a majority of 900.

Among the prominent deputies reelected to the chamber are Count Boni de Castellane (Progressist), from the district of Castellane, department of Basses-Alpes; M. Ribot (Republican), from the district of Saint-Omer, department of Pas de Calais; M. Meline (Progressist), from the district of Remiremont, department of Vosges, and M. Ds Lanessen (Radical), from the district of Lyon, department of the Rhone.

RUSSIAN PEASANTS SACK EIGHTY ESTATES

Eighteen Thousand Engage in Riots and Land Owners Are Fleeing.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, April 27.—The peasants in the Poltav and Kharkoff provinces, where 18,000 are reported to be participating in riots, have already sacked 80 estates, where they destroyed everything they could not carry off. The whole region is terrorized and land owners and stewards are fleeing for safety. The fear is increasing that Kharkoff and other towns will be attacked. Some of the authorities are showing weakness and pusillanimity, while others are cruelly vigorous and are causing wholesale floggings of persons arrested.

The agitation at Moscow is so serious that the czar has relinquished his intention of spending the Russian Easter there.

The ministers, including M. De Witte, the minister of finance, continue to receive letters threatening them with death.

The judicial inquiry into the assassination April 15 of M. Sipiaguine, the minister of the interior, has led to the arrest of many persons suspected of connection with an anti-governmental conspiracy. These include a Jewess who is the fiancee of Balschaneff, the assassin of the minister, and her father, who supplied Balschaneff with money. Upon learning of the arrest of his fiancee, Balschaneff attempted to commit suicide, but was prevented from so doing by his guards.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA MAY SELL PRETTIES

Report Says She Will Preside Over a Stall at the Coronation Bazaar.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1902, by New York Herald.)

LONDON, April 27.—There certainly will be some novelties at the coronation bazar in aid of the great Ormonde Street Hospital for Children if all one hears be true. I have just heard that Queen Alexandra is not only going to open the bazar, but will sell at a stall all the first day. This, of course, is merely a report, but it is an example of the general sort of stories going around.

The Baroness von Eckhardstein, it is said, is getting all sorts of extraordinary things on the ground at the Royal Botanical gardens. For instance, she is going to have an old Nuremberg house erected, as well as a tent for ping-pong, a shooting gallery, a skittle alley and also a kiosk where cigars and cigarettes will be sold.

The Dainler Motor Car Company is presenting a 12-horse power automobile of a similar pattern to that which they are building for the king. A goodly sum will be got out of this, as there are 200 tickets, selling at $20 each. There is quite a rush for these tickets already, and quite half the number have been disposed of.

Insurgent Leader Guevarra and Officers Brought to the Coast.

MANY RIFLES TURNED IN

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MANILA, April 27.—Gen. Frederick D. Grant's expedition in the gunboats Baseo and Florida, several steam launches and native lighters, has ascended the Gandara river, in the island of Samar, and has brought the insurgent leader Guevarra and his entire command down to the coast. Guevarra's command consists of Rafael Sebastian, Abakl and thirty-eight other officers, 189 men and 161 rifles.

Three hundred insurgents with 131 rifles are expected to arrive at Catbalogan, Samar, today to surrender formally to the American authorities.

Three hundred bolomen, 28 of them armed with rifles, surrendered yesterday at Sulat, also in Samar.

Guevarra succeeded Gen. Luoban to the command of the insurgent forces in Samar, when the latter was captured last February. He announced his intention to surrender last March.

Queen's Condition Satisfactory.

Chiffonier
A Dream Of Beauty

The Chiffonier pictured above is sufficient to cause any observant person to marvel at the skill which produces such furniture.

This piece is fashioned so lightly and gracefully, and is embellished with such exquisite taste, that its very presence suggests refinement.

Made of solid mahogany (made by hand, every part of it), 38 inches wide, 22 inches deep, with a splendid French oval plate mirror, 30 by 22 inches, 3 large drawers, 4 small drawers, large hat box—

Price $90

If we could even suggest the rich beauty of the wood, the grace of the design, or the charming finish of this Chiffonier, this advertisement would be more to the point. However, newspaper printing does not permit of such realism, hence the necessity of seeing the article itself.

You'll be interested in the exhibit of furniture for all purposes, and the admittedly attractive prices at

President Cassatt's Visit.

While the visit of President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad to Pittsburgh is described in advance of his arrival tomorrow as one of his customary visits, it is quite probable that more than the customary importance will attach to it. The Pittsburgh district has had a solid growth that has overtaxed all railroad facilities and the human agencies that manipulate them. The announcement that the United States Steel Corporation intends to spend a considerable proportion of the cash to be realized from its bond issue in increasing the capacity of old mills and in the building of new ones in this region, is fresh notice that greater demands on freight service are to be made. If there has been any thought that the requirements of the mills would slacken it is now at an end. A delegation of Pittsburgh manufacturers recently conferred in the east with Mr. Cassatt, and though it is said that his visit to Pittsburgh this week is without reference to that conference there can be little room to doubt that the subjects then discussed will be uppermost in his mind while he is in this city and vicinity, examining the terminals and the general machinery, human and mechanical, for the handling of business. The Pittsburgh district has had a great growth, but it is a mere prophecy of the future. We hope the railroad managers, and especially Mr. Cassatt, are of a mind to take this view of it and prepare accordingly.

An Honest Politician.

While it may not be required of a secretary of agriculture that he be sound on finance, there was no sounder sound money man in the cabinet of Grover Cleveland than J. Sterling Morton of Nebraska, who died yesterday on the 70th anniversary of his birth. Secretary Morton, though a Democrat of Bryan's own state, was a single standard man of the straightest gold sect. Further back he was a sturdy opponent of wildcat banks, at a time when it cost him political preferment, just as in recent years his financial straightforwardness cost him the loss of party standing. He was an uncompromising champion of opinions to which he adhered, from his acceptance of the secretaryship of the territory of Nebraska, at the hands of James Buchanan, in 1858, until the day of his death. What he may have lacked in breadth or brilliancy he more than made up in honesty, and if he made enemies he won their respect. Ever in the open, they knew where to find him, and never found him skulking.

Notable Speeches.

With a reputation for enthusiastic hospitality that is unsurpassed, and noted for gathering annually around its banquet table the best and brainiest men of the nation, the Americus club fairly outdid itself on Saturday evening. While the president of the United States was unavoidably absent two distinguished members of his cabinet, chosen by him since his accession of office, were present. His attorney general was the toastmaster, and a prominent administration leader and member of congress from Maine delivered a beautiful eulogy upon the memory of the hero of Appomattox. Though primarily a token of patriotic and loyal devotion to the memory of Grant, the annual banquet of the club assumes a wider scope, and is made the occasion for some notable utterances covering questions of national policy that are of immediate and vital importance. The gathering on Saturday night was no exception in this particular. Mr. Littlefield's oration on the life and influences of Grant was the oratorical feature of the evening, but to Secretary Shaw of the treasury department was left the duty of sounding the keynote of Republican policy with reference to at least two important national issues—the future of the Philippine islands as a possession of the United States and the upbuilding of our merchant marine. On both topics Mr. Shaw spoke with eloquent optimism. "The power and glory of the American nation," declared the speaker, "is vested in the people to whom the unsolving of the problem of the future must eventually be left. Personally, I would not dare to write out a prediction of the future of the Philippine archipelago and leave it for my grandson to break the seal in proof of the wisdom of his ancestor. I doubt not mistakes will be made. I doubt not we shall trip and falter; stepping sometimes backward, oftener forward, but in the end good will come to them and good to us. It may prove an expensive experiment, but if there shall be nothing worse than expense, and if in the end it shall be to their advancement, then that people whom God has made rich beyond the dream of other nations can afford it."

With the same hopefulness and enthusiasm the speaker paid a tribute to the American merchant marine and demanded for it the largest aid by which it may be made worthy the place now held by this nation in the great commercial competition of the world. Secretary Shaw's speech was an earnest plea for optimism of judgment in the face of a future that is so rich in promise for the American people. In this particular it was an echo of the best statesmanship of the day. It is to this spirit we owe the progress of the nation. It is under the guidance of men with broad and unprejudiced minds who have gone forward unfalteringly in the discharge of the duty laid upon us in the development of providence and in the unfolding of events that this country has been enabled to take its place in the front rank of world powers.

In all that was said by the speakers on Saturday evening there was this confidence in and dependence upon the good sense, the wise judgment of the American people. To them the future will offer no problem too great to be solved, just as the past with all its varied lessons and perplexities has been used as a training ground for the duties that lie before the nation.

Knox and the Meat Combine.

The St. Louis Republic, while saying "there is no reason to doubt the president's earnestness and absolute sincerity," professes to believe "there is great reason to suspect that Republican influence of the kind exerted by Senator Hanna will be put forth to prevent harm to the beef trust." Having conjured up this fear the Republic turns from it to the man in charge of the proceedings, appealing thus to him:

> Attorney General Knox should proceed against the beef trust with the utmost vigor and aggressiveness. He stands as Mr. Roosevelt's trusted agent in this proceeding. The people necessarily look to him for the protection of their interests. He must be loyal to the man who honored him by appointment to his present high office and to the people whose servant he is. By virtue of that office Mr. Knox must leave nothing undone to smash the power of the beef trust and to render impossible in the future so ominous an oppression of the people by a monopoly as is now witnessed in the existing food situation.

The Republic is unnecessarily alarmed as to Senator Hanna's disposition and power, and we can assure it that it may rely implicitly on the attorney general to be vigorous and aggressive in the prosecution of the case. Mr. Knox is not the man, having once placed his hand to the plow, to turn back before the furrow is complete. So far as he is concerned it is no mere matter of loyalty to President Roosevelt, and Mr. Knox will regard himself less the agent of the president than the attorney for the American people, as he is in fact. Furthermore, he will be true to himself, on which it follows as the night the day that he will not be false to any person or to any interest intrusted to him. We know him here, and can speak with authority.

We can further say that in the matter of the meat combine the president, in representing the sentiment of the people, as the Republic sees that he does, represents the sentiment of the Republican party. There is no influence that Senator Hanna could bring to bear, even were he so disposed, that would swerve either the president or the attorney general from the line of duty nor could he nullify their efforts. The decision will not rest with party influences, but with the courts, which will be guided by the facts presented and the application of the law to the facts.

America's Productive Power.

American manufacturing supremacy is due to the superior productiveness of American manufactories. Figures compiled from official and other records by Henry Gannett for an article in the May number of the Forum clearly show this. The story told by them is that "the average gross manufactured product, per hand, in the United States has a value of $1,900 per annum. The French artisan, under the same definition, produces $650; the English artisan, $485; and the German, $450. In other words, the product, per hand, of the United States artisan is nearly three times as great as that of his nearest competitor." These are figures to be pondered by the foreign manufacturer and workman that come to the United States to find out why this country leads the world. The superior productiveness shown by the figures is due to a combination of managerial effectiveness, machinery of the most improved type and workmen who employ their brains as well as their muscles. Boiled down, however, it is merely a matter of brains and energy in all departments of industrial activity. At present the rest of the world does not feel the full effect of this competition though the United States is producing slightly more than one-third of the world's manufactured products) for the reason that our productive capacity is not equal to our own consumptive demands. When capacity overtakes consumption, or consumption, satisfied, falls below production, the foreign manufacturer will need to bestir himself to hold his own against a renewed American invasion.

Rights of a Wife.

A Chicago judge in granting a decree of divorce to an abused wife recently declared:

> A wife has a right to kill a husband who beats her. A woman sews it to her sex to get a revolver and kill such a brute as this man proved himself to be. If she is afraid to do it her male relatives ought to do it for her.

The evidence in the case to which this rather strenuous judicial opinion was applied certainly justified an indignant protest on the part of the trial judge against the inhumanity of the husband who was proved in court to be given to maltreating his wife in a shameless manner. Human instinct revolts at the crime of wifebeating, and when the offense is persisted in to the peril of the helpless woman the consensus of judgment will be that the brute of a husband deserves to be shot.

But this counselling to murder from the bench is considerably more Chicagoesque than judicially sound. Judges and men in authority may hold extreme views on questions, but they have no authority to coin such views into universal law. We complain of the anarchistic spirit that breaks out at times among those unrestrained persons who read, but who rarely think. What can be expected of such people when they are permitted to read the opinion of a congressman concerning a prominent army officer, that "the first neck to be stretched in a soaped rope" should be that of the army officer in question, or when they hear a learned judge declare that men should arm themselves and perform an act of extreme punishment for an offense that the law is perfectly able to cope with?

Anarchy doesn't find its beginnings in every case in the muddled brain of the imported outlaw. Public men and officials sometimes sow the seed.

While the new commissioner of pensions is a poet, he will doubtless consent to administer the affairs of the office in plain prose.

California natives are not having much to say this week. There are several thousand women's club representatives in that state.

The president is said to have danced a Virginia reel at a recent gathering in his honor. Another step toward the pacification of the south.

Recent events would seem to indicate that some congressmen take as readily to jack knives as they do to jack pots.

When the supreme court of Pennsylvania took to baseball it was one strike and out for the other side.

April seems to have stolen that March lion.

Good morning. Have you had a dust bath?

The beef trust has played for high stakes and the public pays for them.

Should the price of milk go up the cow would lose her last ground of self-respect.

ORGANIST APPLAUDED.

Edwin H. Lemare Encored by Large Audience at Free Recital.

Carnegie Music hall was crowded to its utmost capacity yesterday afternoon when Edwin H. Lemare, organist and director of music at Carnegie institute, took his place at the organ and commenced the first number of the five hundred and eighth free organ recital.

The program was a fine one and included selections from Mozart, Hofman, Bach, Lemmens, Rossini and two gems of Mr. Lemare's own, (a) intermezzo in B flat and (b) berceuse, which were so heartily applauded that Mr. Lemare was forced to bow in acknowledgement. A fantasia, "The Storm," by Lemmens, was magnificently rendered, as was the overture from "Semiramide" by Rossini.

Madame Cambon Falls in Love With America

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, April 27.

"American women are prettier than the Parisiennes." Why, bless your quick observation, Mme. Cambon, of course they are. It is one of the first truths that strike the foreigner as he lands in New York, and he is always willing to admit it. Mme. Cambon, wife of Jules Cambon, the French ambassador, has just come to the United States for a three months' visit, but her glowing admiration for everything she has seen in New York particularly the American women, gives reason for the belief that she may stay here permanently. As she came up the bay on the French liner La Savoie she naturally fell in love with the statue of Liberty, since it is the work of a distinguished countryman of her own, and is an imposing achievement on general principles. Then she caught a glimpse of the jagged sky line of the borough of Manhattan and threw up her hands in the inimitable Gallic fashion as she saw the huge skyscrapers from the Battery to the haze of the distant horizon. She said to the interviewers who were at her elbow as the vessel worked its way up the harbor that she had come to America particularly to attend the unveiling of the monument to Gen. Rochambeau in Washington on May 21. Then she prattled on that she could not stay more than six months; that she had originally intended to remain only three, but that she would like to live here forever. This was very charming, like the speaker herself. She is 50 years of age, but in her dainty Parisian bonnet and modish gown, with her coiffure managed in the wonderful manner so easy to the French woman of high degree, she might be anything from 18 to 35. Whether she will get to Pittsburgh or not cannot be said positively. I heard casually last night that she and M. Cambon were quite likely to pay a visit to that marvelous city of science and industry before madame goes home, but she does not know what her husband's plans are for her entertainment while here, and could not have said anything about a possible Pittsburgh visit, even if she had been asked. If Pittsburghers do meet her they will find her a charming woman. They may take my word for that.

Chauffeurs Don't Like Prison Bars.

The fuss over automobiling speed continues. It is not likely that the legal limit will be raised from eight to ten miles an hour, but the fact that it has been discussed is responsible for a great deal of savage comment on the part of persons who do not own autos and do not like them. One suggestion, which is being seriously considered, is to punish violations of the speed ordinance by imprisonment without the option of fine. The Automobile club desires than any of its members breaking the law shall be punished, but does not express itself in favor of prison bars, and it is hardly likely that so heavy a penalty will be inflicted for what, after all, is not a graver offense than a misdemeanor.

All Coney Old-Timers at Their Post.

Thousands of New Yorkers left the city today for a holiday. As soon as the weather is mild enough to suggest the pleasure of rural surroundings the trolleys, trains and boats are forced to their utmost capacity on Sunday. It was so today. Coney Island was "going" with a dash and hurry that suggested the middle of summer. The time for the regular opening of the season has not arrived, but that makes little difference to the sharp-witted men and women who make a living at the island. Their motto is, "Always ready when there is a dollar in sight," and they went after the elusive dollar today with a will. Only some of the shows, photograph galleries, peanut and candy stands and "sacred concerts" were in operation last Sunday. The few enterprising persons who began business then, although the day was rather chilly, reaped a rich harvest. None of the old-timers were missing today. They saw that there was money to be made, and they were there to make it. I haven't the exact figures of the attendance at the island today, but the main thoroughfares, like Surf avenue and the "Bowery," were simply jammed with holiday-makers, and the number was well up in the thousands. Coney Island has opened early this year, but the attendance is large enough to warrant the forhandedness.

Park May Be Carnegie's Neighbor.

One of the biggest real estate deals of the week was the purchase of the plot of land running through from Eighty-ninth to Eighty-eighth street, 100 feet from Fifth avenue, and, therefore, very close to the Andrew Carnegie mansion. W. G. Park of Pittsburgh is said to be largely interested in the purchase, the price of which is about $750,000. Property in this neighborhood has appreciated to a tremendous degree since Mr. Carnegie bought his large stretch of land there for his new home, and for the homes of such of his friends as he would allow to buy sites from him. "Millionaires' row," as this part of Fifth avenue is called, will be tenanted by Pittsburghers to a large extent and each new purchase accentuates that fact.

Miss Stone as a Lecturer.

Miss Ellen M. Stone will deliver her first lecture in New York tomorrow evening at the Broadway tabernacle. Maj. J. B. Pond is managing Miss Stone's lecture tour, and he says that the advance sale of tickets for tomorrow's discourse is tremendous. Interest in the missionary who so nearly lost her life among the brigands of Macedonia is as great in New York as anywhere and Miss Stone has the faculty of telling a story clearly. Stereopticon views will illustrate her lecture.

Son Will Burlesque Father.

James O'Neill, who has been playing the hero in "Monte Cristo" for more years than the younger generation of playgoers can trace, is to be burlesqued. Worse and more of it is that the caricature is to be presented by his son and namesake. A New York dramatist is preparing a sketch for James O'Neill, Jr., in which the young man, who bears a striking resemblance to his father, will show Edmond Dantes with more or less whimsicality. The first performance will be given at a vaudeville theater in this city and afterward it will go on the road.

Hammerstein May Build a Theater.

Rumor has it that Oscar Hammerstein is about to build a new theater. He has leased his Theater Republic, which was the last theater he built, and he wants to do something in the theater-building way just to keep his hand in. That is the gossip. Mr. Hammerstein says nothing about it, but he wears an air of mystery that has set the tongues of the gossips wagging, and, moreover, he has discarded his wonderful plug hat, and shines forth resplendent in a light-colored Fedora. He first wore this light hat when he was building the Olympia, which has since resolved itself into the New York and Criterion theaters. There may not be any connection between the Fedora hat and a new theater, but the Rialto believes there is.

Herald Square Passable Again.

Herald square is not quite so bad for pedestrians as it has been for the last 12 months or so while the building operations in the two blocks from Thirty-third to Thirty-fifth street have been in progress. The contractors at last have put down sidewalks, level with the street, for the use of the public. During most of the time there has been an elevated sidewalk, narrow and awkward, and for the rest of the period no sidewalk at all. It has been the regular thing for Broadway promenaders to march out to the middle of the street, where the dodging of street cars, automobiles and demon cabs has been the experience of everyone. When it is remembered that Herald square is just about the middle of the Broadway mile, where gaiety and ease are supposed to rule, the awful hiatus of sidewalk at that point will be recognized as exceedingly painful; but the trouble has been bridged over—for the present, at least—and great was the joy of the Saturday night and Sunday strollers in consequence.

The Vanderbilt Taxes.

The appellate division of the supreme court has sustained Surrogate Fitzgerald's ruling relative to the transfer tax upon the estate of Cornelius Vanderbilt, holding that the amount of the federal war tax should not be deducted from the assessed valuation of the estate before fixing the state tax. There has been paid into the state treasury a tax of $520,908, which, together with the federal tax, makes a total of $822,861. The personal estate of Mr. Vanderbilt amounted to $52,009,867 and the realty $20,000,000, making the total fortune about $72,000,000. One of the points urged throughout the litigation was that the residuary fortune, being held in trust, was not liable to the tax until its expiration, but this was defeated.

Necessity of Bicycle Police.

Police Commissioner Partridge abolished the bicycle squad of policemen lately, and has brought a storm about his ears in consequence. Here are the observations of a well-known city official on the commissioner's action, which may be taken as representing the sentiment generally on the removal of the bicycle policemen from the streets of New York. He said: "If a reckless automobile driver runs over a man or child and then attempts to escape, no patrolman can capture him; but when we had bicycle policemen there was a quick chase and certain capture. I have known in connection with my official position where a man has been run over and the reckless driver has attempted to escape. The bicycle policeman would give chase and capture him, but with a policeman standing on the sidewalk he might run after an automobile or even board a passing car and give chase in that way, but his chances of catching the man are very slim."

Another Saving of Officers.

The steamboat squad of policemen will be the next to go. Commissioner Partridge has been busy reorganizing the police force, and in doing so he has upset more than one tradition. The steamboat squad has the work of watching the piers along the river front. The commissioner thinks the men do not earn their salaries. If the squad were abolished it would give about 100 policemen for other duties, and the commissioner wants all the men he can get, as is evident to every New Yorker.

New Comedy Coming.

This will be the last week of Francis Wilson at the Knickerbocker in "The Toreador." Next Monday George W. Lederer's musical comedy, "The Wild Rose," will be put in at this theater. It was played in Philadelphia last week, and the reports of the critics there are that it is exceedingly good.

Gates Sticks to His Pie Woman.

John W. Gates told some friends in the Waldorf-Astoria the other night that he had received at least 100 letters a day from women who were sure that they could make better pies than Mrs. J. E. Kane. It will be remembered that Mrs. Kane made a lemon pie for her husband, who is a telegrapher in a broker's office, and that Mr. Gates happened to taste it. He was so pleased with it that he asked if Mrs. Kane would make one for him. She did—several of them—and Mr. Gates said he never had tasted such excellent pies. He repaid the talented piemaker by buying for her 100 shares of Northern Pacific, just before the panic of May 9. The profit to her was several hundred dollars. Had she held the stock three days longer it would have netted for her something like $88,000. Mr. Gates' many correspondents, to the number of more than 1,000 altogether, all want to make pies for him for nothing, to prove to him that they are better piemakers than Mrs. Kane, and, incidentally, to make for themselves $1,000 or so in Wall street on Mr. Gates' "tips." He is loyal to his original piemaker, however, and as he calls for another slice of Mrs. Kane's unapproachable lemon confection, carelessly throws all the letters into the waste basket with a deprecatory shake of the head.

Protecting Public Shade Trees.

New York wants more shade trees. The first thing to be done, in the opinion of the park board at its Wednesday's meeting will be to prepare an ordinance providing for the arrest and imprisonment of every person caught injuring the trees in the streets or elsewhere in public.

WHAT THE EDITORS ARE DISCUSSING

THE STATE PRESS.

We hear many complaints from our citizens about the profanity and vulgarity heard on the streets, and an example of the provisions of the law should be made of the offenders.—Butler Herald.

The recent test of water pressure in East McKeesport indicates that the borough is not without the power to fight fires if the necessary apparatus is only provided. Success to the new volunteer company!—McKeesport News.

Mr. Andrew Carnegie, it is announced, is contemplating the founding of a great university for Pittsburgh. Not content with establishing his great library and his polytechnic institute, he proposes to make Pittsburgh the site of a great university.—Butler Eagle.

Dr. F. W. Winger reports the biggest trout catch of the season, having succeeded in landing 49 of the speckled beauties in one day. Seven of them were over nine inches long.—Bradford Record.

We notice the name of Hon. J. C. Sibley announced in the Ridgway papers for congress in that district. Mr. Sibley is getting close to us, and there are many Republicans in this county who would like to vote for him if they could.—Raftsmann's Journal.

The say Congressman Joe Sibley is a flopper. That is true. But he is the kind of a flopper the people like. He always flops from the side of the bosses to that of the people. Who can show a single flop he has made that has not been that way?—Kittanning Times.

Franklin is to have a new industry, thanks to the tireless energy of that eminent citizen and indefatigable worker in her interests, Gen. Charles Miller. The enterprise referred to is the Mechanical Locomotive Stoker Company, now being organized with a capital stock of $1,000,000.—Titusville Herald.

The new town of Foustwell, where the Berwind-White company has opened its mining plant No. 38, is one of the rapidly growing towns of the county. A large number of new houses have been erected there, others are in the course of erection, and it is said that in the near future there will be 200 or more families comfortably located there.—Somerset Standard.

To all appearances one result of Mr. Morgan's steamship merger has been to kill the ship subsidy bill deader than a smelt. Some of the advocates of the measure are still hopeful, but it is plainly in evidence that there is no reason why they should be. At any rate there is no longer hope for the bill, and the subsidy idea might as well be abandoned.—Scranton Republican.

A movement has been started at Royersford, Pa., for fighting the beef trust by diminishing the demand for its product. An association, the members of which bind themselves to eat no meat, has been formed. The rapidly growing membership is composed of the most influential citizens of the town, the only one requisite to membership being the abstention from beef in any form.—Warren Mail.

The fishermen who returned to the city after whipping the streams all day are unanimously of the opinion that it was the poorest opening of the trout season that they ever experienced. The day's catches did not run more than eight or ten for each man. Never were the streams known to be so scarce of trout. It is believed that the scarcity is owing to the trout being carried away by the high waters of the winter.—Lock Haven Democrat.

IN THE SMALL TOWNS.

Assessor Jesse McLaughlin will start on his rounds Tuesday. Get your money converted into government bonds and hide your dog.—Wellsville Union.

Talking about water now, to judge by what you may see on the streets any old day or night, that beverage seems to be getting unpopular in Butler.—Butler Times.

Speaking of trout, Charles Irwin today showed us a dozen fine specimens from a catch which he and three companions made in the past three days. One of them was 9½ inches in length.—Franklin News.

As everything is coming Oil City's way this year, it would not be surprising to learn that the new comet was headed in our direction.—Oil City Blizzard.

Baseball clubs are being organized in many surrounding towns, but there is no movement in that direction here. This will not be a good baseball season in Elizabeth; the game flourishes best here when there is little else doing.—Elizabeth Herald.

A dog and a chicken are responsible for breaking a large pane of glass in one of the double doors of William Sterner's tobacco store. The dog ran after the chicken and the fowl flew against the glass, breaking it.—Lock Haven Democrat.

A Manor Dutchman has many regrets since he tied his goat to the lower board in the fence, for when he returned the goat had jumped the fence and its spirit had passed out into the dark blue ultimatum. Always tie a goat to the top rail.—Jeannette Dispatch.

We have talked with many of the candidates this week. They all tell us that they are going to win. Somehow we cannot but believe the individual who originated the expression "you cannot believe everything you hear," was a great philosopher.—Kittanning Free Press.

With the advent of spring we hope Windber will loom up with her baseball team as in seasons gone by. A few years ago we could boast of having as good a team as could be found anywhere in the central part of the state. What's the matter with organizing a nine out of each of the fire companies? This would give the boys an opportunity of working off some of the surplus rivalry. At all events let us have a baseball nine.—Windber Journal.

Uniontown is overrun with dogs, and it is almost an hourly occurrence to see a dog fight on Main street or other streets of town. Bulldogs, the kind that fight for a living, seem to predominate. It is worth a person's life almost to venture out on any of the streets lest he be attacked by one of these brutes, or a dog fight is kicked up in front of him. Yet the assessment shows but few dogs, and the tax from this source is light.—Uniontown News-Standard.

Many of the farmers of small land holdings in various parts of the county, convenient to populous localities and shipping points, with the present season give more attention to truck gardening than heretofore. A number, here and there, have newly opened in the business. It has been found that the raising of vegetables and fruits is much more profitable than producing cereals. With the rapid increase in population at various points of the county there is an increasing demand for garden truck. Fair prices and an active market have prevailed for some years past, and it is believed by many that the outlook is still more encouraging for the future.—Westmoreland Democrat.

COAL IS SCARCE IN MANY LARGE MILLS

Unless Strike in Allegheny and Kiskimentas Valleys Ends They Must Shut Down.

The strike of the Allegheny and Kiskiminetas valley miners is beginning to have a serious effect on the industries located near by and dependent on these mines for their coal supply. At any time the strike may be extended to include mines which attempt to supply coal to the idle concerns.

Several of the independent firms in the two valleys had been paying as high a rate of wages as that demanded and in some cases even higher. It is reported that they will now pay the rate demanded in all of the mines, but, with the exception of three firms, they refuse to recognize the unions.

Every industry in Tarentum will be affected if the strikes keeps up. This will be true of the industries in Freeport, Ford City, Kittanning, Leechburg, Apollo, Vandegrift and a number of smaller towns. New Kensington will be affected to a small extent. Already the price of coal is going up in Tarentum and also in one or two other towns. Almost the entire amount that was on hand at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's plant has been consumed and if conditions continue as they are at present the plant will have to close down, ing up, almost twice the regular price being demanded.

The boards of trade of Tarentum and of New Kensington, together with prominent business men and manufacturers, are bringing pressure to bear upon the operators to have them sign the scale. An impression prevails that some time this week all difficulties are to be settled and the mines reopened.

The strike has been orderly in all parts of the field affected. Beside the other employes of the mines over 2,000 miners are out. If the tie-up continues 5,000 men, it is said, will be thrown out of employment by the mills shutting down.

President Patrick Dolan, Secretary Lewis and a number of other speakers addressed a large meeting in the West Penn portion of the field on Saturday evening and again yesterday afternoon at Natrona. The report that their lines are strong and that there will be no break.

HERMIT MISSING.

"Old Dutch Bill" Fled from Forest Fire Near Cheswick.

Sparks from a freight locomotive engine on the Pittsburgh & Bessemer railroad set fire to the woods near Cheswick on Thursday and the fire was not got under control until Saturday night, after destroying a hundred acres of white oak and black oak timber.

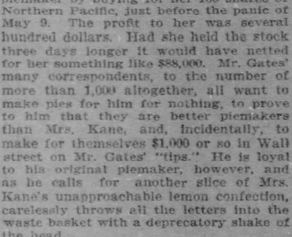
"Old Dutch Bill," a hermit living in a small hut, cannot be found. The ruins of his shanty were dug over yesterday, but his remains were not found. The neighbors believe he was frightened and ran away.

THE MAN UP A TREE

Grouchy Weather.

"This is a grouchy day," said the man who had been attending to some business on the outside. "Have you ever noticed the decided effect certain weather conditions have had their usual effects. I could tell that little. Even the men I knew best while courteous, were obdurate and pessimistic. It was like butting against a stone wall. Tomorrow when the barometer is rising I shall have more success, but I've given it up for today."

A Fierce Insect.



This is a picture of a bug which attacked a Philadelphia policeman a day or two ago, and necessitated the laying up of the officer for repairs.

Perhaps it is due to the insect to say that the picture is not a photograph, but was drawn from the policeman's description. If the creature were precisely as the officer described it, and provicied with the complete kit of weapons of offense which he thought it carried, the officer ought to be in the morgue instead of in the hospital, where he was while telling the Philadelphia reporters about it.

From a High Viewpoint.

Britannia is receiving a little American assistance in the wave-ruling line.

Aunty orators in congress have plenty of hot air in stock.

U. S. Grant did not say much himself, but his admirers speak for him.

Borchgrevink, the Antarctic explorer, has applied for American citizenship, but has not announced his intention to translate his name into the United States language.

Grover Cleveland has but little to say on politics, but on serene duck hunting he is ever ready to give points.

Some army officers have been reprimanded for talking, but Capt. Coghlan's vocal efforts never touched the government.

The proposition to disarm Hernando De Soto Money when he enters the senate chamber would not do much good. All weapons look alike to him. He tried to brain a fellow legislator with an inkstand once upon a time.

A world's fair pulled off at the time originally specified should be awarded a gold medal.

"The administration is but a replica of the threatening attitude of Great Britain to the American colonies 100 years ago," remarked Mr. Bryan to a St. Louis reporter. This seems to require a diagram.

Jerry Simpson, once the sockless statesman of Kansas, is evidently out of politics to stay, for he is announced as the champion ping-pong player of Montana. No ping-pongist can hope for office in the breezy west.

He Wouldn't Go.

"Come around to the literary society tonight," said one member to another, who had been absent from several meetings.

"What for?"

"It will be interesting. There is going to be a meaty debate."

"Well, I don't think I can afford to take part in a meaty debate during the present high price of beef."

POINT BREEZE.

Americans Who Move.

Study of the recent United States census shows some remarkably interesting facts, and among them the one that we are the greatest nation of rolling stones on the earth, but, notwithstanding that fact, we succeed in gathering the moss of material prosperity.

The official figures show that out of a native born population of 65,843,202 there are 13,863,551 living in states different from those in which they were born. That is, more than one person out of five has left the state of his birth to seek his fortune elsewhere.

If we count the 10,460,736 foreign born residents we find that about one-third of the population has moved from the state or country of birth. These figures show our mobility to be in the ratio of 10 to 1 as compared with that of Europe.

The state of New York has sent out 1,300,000 of her children, who are now residing in other states, and has received from other states in their stead 534,000 residents. Vermont has a more remarkable record, which shows that she has children living in other states equal in number to one-half of her present population.

"New York city is in the hands of mechanics and laborers," remarked J. F. Bronweracher, an importer of French groceries at Minneapolis, Minn., while waiting for the limited to take him home last night. "Many buildings are now being erected in New York, and the place is torn up for the construction of the underground tunnel. Real estate in Minneapolis is at last getting down to suitable values. The city has suffered for the past ten years by inflation in property values. Los Angeles, Cal., is coming to the front as far as real estate is concerned. One day six weeks ago real estate transfers amounting to $780,000 were made there."

First Lieutenant Franklin R. Kenney of the coast artillery is a guest at the Hotel Lincoln. He arrived in the city yesterday, accompanied by Lieut. A. A. Maybach, who will act as best man for Lieut. Kenney on Wednesday evening, when he will be married to Miss Nellie Torrence, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Reece Torrence. The wedding will be held at the home of the bride, No. 5604 Baum street, East End. Lieut. Kenney was a member of the "Fighting" Tenth, and served through the Philippine campaign with his regiment. After the return of the regiment from the Philippines he passed the examination for a commission in the regular army and was shortly after appointed a first lieutenant in the coast artillery. His parents reside in Knoxville.

Elliott C. Matthews, a business man of Cleveland, passed through the city last night over the Pennsylvania railroad on his way to New York. While waiting for his train he remarked that Mayor Tom L. Johnson had the presidential bee buzzing in his bonnet. "I shall not be surprised if his name comes before the Democratic convention when it is held. Mayor Johnson is trying to give Cleveland a good government, and is doing it. He has filled his appointments with able men without regard to party."

J. H. Wells, a lumber dealer of Luray, Va., went to Washington last night over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. "The lumber regions of Virginia," he said, "are now being developed, and northern capital is beginning to come into the state."

GEN. CLINTON'S GRAVE.

Markers to Be Placed by Sons of the American Revolution.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27.—Arrangements have been practically completed for the national congress of the Sons of the American Revolution, which assembles in this city Wednesday.

While the congress does not assemble until Wednesday, a ceremony of considerable interest will be held Tuesday at Congressional cemetery, when a committee of distinguished New York delegates will visit the cemetery to place one of the society markers at the grave of Gen. George Clinton, an aide to Gen. Washington in planning his campaigns, first governor of New York and twice vice president of the United States. He died in this city in 1812. A monument was placed at the grave by the state of New York. A floral offering from the White House will be placed on the grave.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Albert M. Kirk.

Albert M. Kirk, son of Thomas M. Kirk, Sr., the well-known professor of music, and brother of Thomas F. Kirk, Jr., manager of the Alvin theater, died at the family home, No. 1221 Franklin street, last night at 10:25 o'clock. He was in his 27th year, and was unmarried. Mr. Kirk was a music teacher by profession. He was always devoted to music and possessed great talent. He was a prominent member of the Philharmonic society of the East End and was always ready and willing to give his services in aid of any public or charitable entertainment. Personally he was exceedingly popular with all who knew him. He was a member of the Fourteenth regiment, N. G. P., and served with that organization during the Spanish-American war. While in camp in the south he contracted malaria, from which he never really recovered. His last illness dated back for six or eight weeks. No arr

FEDERATION IS AFTER CREDIT FOR ITS HELP

Organizer Flynn Says $38,000 Was Contributed to Amalgamated Association.

THE AID WAS HURRIED

Telegraph Was Called Into Requisition to Expedite the Raising of Funds to Assist Steel Men in the Big Strike Last Summer.

Thomas H. Flynn, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor, who, dispatches from Wheeling said, had left there unceremoniously to avoid the anger of the pro-Shaffer element of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, will return today to the convention to demand a hearing to justify the part that the American Federation of Labor and its president, Samuel Gompers, took in the big steel strike of last summer. Mr. Flynn, whose home is in Pittsburgh, came here Saturday to be with his family over Sunday.

"All that is wanted," said Mr. Flynn, "is that I get an opportunity to address the Amalgamated convention in justification of the Federation and Mr. Gompers. It has been reported that President Shaffer declared to his constituents that the Federation did not aid the Amalgamated at all during its trouble.

Contributed $38,000.

"We want to show that through a call of the executives of the American Federation of Labor its affiliated organizations poured into the treasury of the Amalgamated Association during its trouble $38,000 out of a total of about $65,000 contributed by various labor unions the strike. The audit of the Amalgamated association finances will show this.

"In the first place it is fairly well known that the Federation has no reserve or defense fund. Frequently we have had the proposition up to create such a fund for just such emergencies as the Amalgamated strike, and in each instance the Amalgamated association was one to vote against it. However, our constitution provides that our executive council may levy a strike assessment of 5 cents a month for each member of the Federation for the benefit of any affiliated organization having a strike on. Before Mr. Shaffer issued his famous general strike call President Gompers, Secretary Morrison and myself had conferences with Mr. Shaffer in reference to our aiding the Amalgamated. At that time I was working for the Federation in the interest of Mr. Shaffer and the steel workers, and as a result thousands of tube workers joined the strike.

Hurried the Assessment.

"We all told Shaffer that he was entitled to the special strike assessment and provided him with the form for making application for it. It was arranged that the members of the executive council vote by telegraph and the matter be expedited so that the assessment would commence to come in in a few weeks.

"Without waiting for this to be arranged we sent out a general appeal from Washington headquarters to all affiliated organizations for aid for the Amalgamated. As a result of this Federation organizations contributed $38,000 to the strike fund of the steel workers. We have no purpose to pick a personal quarrel with President Shaffer, but we do want credit for what we have done. Personally I hold Mr. Shaffer in the highest esteem and regard him as a good leader.

"Our only object is to secure a hearing which will bring about a better fraternal feeling between the Amalgamated association and the Federation and its affiliated organizations."

Asked as to the chances of President Shaffer's re-election, Mr. Flynn said: "I am sure that he will be returned to the office."

LESSONS TAUGHT FROM LIFE OF GEN. GRANT

The Rev. Dr. W. H. W. Rees Spoke on the Great Soldier Last Night.

The Rev. Dr. W. H. W. Rees, pastor of the Smithfield Street M. E. church, delivered an interesting discourse last night on "Lessons from the Life of U. S. Grant." He took for his text II. Timothy, iv:7: "I have fought a good fight," and said in part:

"Some men are born great, others achieve greatness, and others have greatness thrust upon them. U. S. Grant belonged to the second class. No nobler epitaph could be coveted than Grant merited—'That, having served his generation by the will of God, he fell asleep.' If he had private failings or faults—and who has not—let them be writ on water and his virtues on brass.

"He had to make his own way in the world. Older citizens of St. Louis remember how he used to sell old wood from door to door, and how he afterward became a tanner in Galena, Ill. His greatest ambition at that time seemed to be to get a plank road from his shop to the railroad.

"No one who knew him then ever suspected the silent man as one likely to be the hero of a hundred battles, twice president of the United States and the idol of patriotic millions. So the first lesson I bring to you is to get ready for the work you have to do and do not be impatient if you do not find it at once.

"Grant had an iron will and was controlled by a lofty purpose. He did not know the words, 'I can't.' He could not retreat, though he could die if need be. During the night after the first day's battle at Pittsburg Landing, the brave McPherson in despair said: 'What will you do?' Grant answered: 'Reform the lines and attack at daylight. Won't they be surprised?'

"Just as he was entering the fourth battle at Vicksburg, a little brigadier rode up crying: 'Go back.' But his voice was lost in the huge sounding for the charge that resulted in the capture of that Gibraltar of the southern confederacy and the surrender of 40,000 soldiers in arms. His 'unconditional surrender' caused Donelson to fall; he held Vicksburg by the throat until her breath was gone, and he hugged Lee until he begged for mercy.

"So the second lesson I bring you is get right and never surrender. Grant had a magnanimous nature and a generous spirit. How tolerantly and with what magnanimity he received the surrender of Lee and his army. His terms of peace helped to make the nation one, and gave the vanquished an inlook into his character that found expression in the presence of two of their brave generals as pallbearers at his funeral. He had a great nature and rose above petty jealousies and out to such souls as wed 'great commanders' of the present time.

"He had a heart and knew what love was. His love for his wife and children was most beautiful. He had a heart and drew men to him. What a power after all heart-power is! If there was more love and less vituperation or no love and less strife, what a glorious nation this would be. Learn the lesson of self-sacrifice for others. Live for those who hate you as for those who love you."

CABINET OFFICERS RETURN TO CAPITAL

LEFT AT 9 O'CLOCK LAST NIGHT OVER THE PENNSYLVANIA.

All Were Pleased With Their Visit to Pittsburgh—Attended Service at Christ M. E. Church—Secretary Shaw Spoke at Sharpsburg to Y. M. C. A.

Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw, Postmaster General Henry C. Payne and Congressman Charles E. Littlefield of Maine, who came to Pittsburgh as special guests of honor of the Americus Republican club to attend the sixteenth annual Grant's birthday banquet of that organization Saturday evening, yesterday had a chance to see something of the aesthetic side of Pittsburgh under conditions that were in every way delightful. In company with Attorney General P. C. Knox they left for Washington at 9 o'clock last night in the private car "Idler," which was placed at their disposal by Robert Pitcairn.

Before leaving they took occasion to express the great pleasure they had had in visiting Pittsburgh. They were pleased with the Americus club, with the people they met and with the city itself.

Yesterday morning Messrs. Payne, Shaw and Littlefield, accompanied by Samuel McElroy, attended services at the Christ Methodist Episcopal church, Center and Liberty avenues, where they heard Bishop Earl Cranston preach.

At Christ M. E. Church.

The presence of the distinguished trio attracted considerable attention, and after the services several met the cabinet men. From the church they were taken to the residence of Henry C. Frick, Penn and Homewood avenues, where they were joined by Attorney General Knox.

After entertaining his guests at luncheon Mr. Frick took them out for a spin over the Beechwood boulevard in the big automobile he brought home from Paris last fall. A number of the handsomest East End streets were also visited while this ride was being taken.

At 4:30 o'clock Secretary Shaw addressed a Y. M. C. A. meeting in Sharpsburg. He was accompanied to Sharpsburg by Mr. and Mrs. Julian P. Kennedy, whose guest he has been.

It had been previously announced that he would speak and the assembly hall was packed. Secretary Shaw's speech was confined to the duties of young men to themselves.

Secretary Shaw at Sharpsburg.

He gave his young auditors some excellent advice and warned them against anything that had a tendency to destroy their faith in God. His address lasted about 35 minutes. At the conclusion the young men were introduced to him.

Among the prominent men present from Sharpsburg and vicinity were Judges Shaffer and F. H. Collier, Col. E. E. Zeigler and Hugh and Julian P. Kennedy. After Mr. Shaw was through speaking Mr. Kennedy delivered a short speech, in which he mentioned some incidents of Mr. Shaw's life. A fine musical program was also rendered by local talent.

Last night the cabinet members were accompanied to the station by President John L. Shaw of the Americus club, reaching their train only a few minutes before it started.

The party occupying the private car "Idler," attached to train No. 4, was composed of Postmaster General H. C. Payne, Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw, Representative Charles E. Littlefield, Representative Joseph B. Showalter, Lieut. John Knox and Reed Knox, a son of the attorney general. Attorney General P. C. Knox did not enter the train at Union station, but got on it upon its arrival at East Liberty.

Enjoyed Visit to Pittsburgh.

"Our trip to Pittsburgh has been a most enjoyable one," said Secretary Shaw. "We have been treated with the greatest kindness by the people, which made the visit most pleasant. The dinner of the Americus club was a magnificent gathering which it was a pleasure to address."

"Pittsburgh is a great city," said Postmaster General Payne, "and its people are very hospitable. We had the pleasure of skimming over your magnificent boulevards in Mr. Henry C. Frick's automobile this afternoon. Your parks are deligraful and we visited both of them."

"We certainly have had a delightful trip and I am sorry it is ended," said the Maine congressman as he stepped aboard the private car.

Inside the car the newspaper men were introduced to the members of the party by President John L. Shaw of the Americus club. "We are glad to see you boys, but I must offer my left hand to you," remarked Postmaster General Payne, "as your people have put my right hand out of use for a short time." As he was speaking he extended his right hand, which was badly puffed up and swollen. "This, you see," he said, "was done by the number of handshakes I got on Saturday."

EAGLES HELD MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR THE DEAD

Members of the Local Lodge Met in the Alvin Theater Last Night.

Aerie lodge No. 76, of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, organized in Pittsburgh a little over a year ago, held its first annual memorial service last night in the Alvin theater. The services were held in memory of three members of the Aerie lodge who have died within the first year of the organization—Frederick E. Feiger, Thomas J. McTighe and Winfield W. Colville.

The service was elaborate and impressive, consisting of the ritual of the order, eloquent addresses and excellent music. The services were begun with a selection by the Pennsylvania State orchestra. After the opening ode, prayer was offered by Worthy Chaplain Robert G. Robinson. The choir of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church sang an anthem and Brother A. C. Roberson delivered the introductory address. The Hon. James Oliver of New York Aerie No. 40 made an address.

The memorial address was eloquently spoken by Brother William J. Brennen. One of the most effective musical selections was rendered by Master John Corcoran, who sang in a sweet soprano voice the "Holy City." The touching melody, "The Vacant Chair," was sung by a quartet composed of H. F. Bailey, Richard Chalfant, John F. Mullen and C. F. Harris. Brother Bernard McKenna was master of ceremonies and Charles F. Harris musical director. The admission to the service was by ticket and the auditorium was filled.

LIVERYMAN KILLED.

Frank Marshall of Braddock Received Fatal Injuries in a Runaway.

Frank Marshall, a Braddock liveryman living in Calvert street, was fatally injured in a runaway accident last evening. While driving across the West Briddock bridge at Rankin his horse took fright at a passing traction car and ran away. The buggy collided with another car and Marshall was thrown out. The horse tore loose from the buggy and ran on, finally falling into a cellar excavation. Mr. Marshall was taken home. Examination showed that he was fatally hurt.

Baby Found Dead—The coroner was notified of the death of George Vasco, a 3-months-old child, which was found dead in bed yesterday morning at No. 1202 Halkett avenue, Braddock.

Suicide of Aged Man—The coroner was notified yesterday of the death of a man named Hoarty at his home in Ninth street, McKeesport, which occurred at 5:30 a. m. from carbolic acid, taken with suicidal intent. Hoarty was 70 years of age.

Shot in the Leg—George Howe, a Pole of Clay street, Sharpsburg, engaged in the pastime of "looking on" during a row at a dance in the house of a neighbor named Shultz, Saturday night, and was shot in the left leg during the affair. The wound is not serious.

Fatality at Noblestown—While going home early yesterday morning Thomas Roy of Noblestown was struck and killed by a freight engine on the Panhandle railroad, near Noblestown station. Roy was 50 years old and married. He was an oil driller by occupation.

Magistrates Were Busy—There were 118 prisoners at Central police court yesterday for Police Magistrate Bernard McKenna to dispose of. As usual the number of cases there was greater than at all the other stations combined. The total number of cases disposed of in the two cities yesterday was 153.

Sent to the Workhouse—Magistrate Armstrong committed John Mullen of Short alley to the workhouse for 90 days at the Oakland police station yesterday morning. Mullen was accused of stealing $65 from Mrs. Maggie Oxworth of Soho street while the two were drinking together in a Forbes street saloon Saturday night.

Killed by an Engine—While walking across the tracks of the Panhandle railroad at Sturgeon station early yesterday morning John Peel, a laborer, 28 years old, was struck and seriously injured by a freight engine. He was removed to the West Penn hospital, where he died one hour later. Peel was identified later by his brother-in-law, William Farrar of Midway. Peel was single.

Smallpox at Sharpsburg—Another case of smallpox was reported to the Sharpsburg board of health yesterday afternoon. The victim is a 9-year-old servant of Mr. J. This makes 16 in the town, although the physician in charge stated yesterday that the other cases, which are of some week's standing, will be discharged next week.

Stole a Bulldog—Nicola Crozza, an Italian residing in Onega street, was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate J. H. Armstrong at the East End police station yesterday morning as a suspicious person. He was charged with stealing a bulldog from a neighbor. Crozza claimed the dog followed him and he could not chase it away, but could not explain how he came to be leading the dog by a chain when the policeman overhauled him.

Fire at Millvale—The large frame residence of Mr. A. Stubener of Stanton avenue, Millvale, was badly damaged by fire yesterday morning. The alarm was sent in to the Millvale fire department at about 9 a. m., and when the firemen reached the scene 15 minutes later the fire had got a good headway. The whole upper story was in flames, and before the men could succeed getting the fire under control a great part of the second story had been demolished. The damage will amount to about $600.

Dropped Dead in the Street—A pipe line worker known as "Cloverfoot" Lynch fell dead early yesterday morning as he was walking along a street in West Elizabeth. He arrived in the borough on a late train Saturday night. The man is known to have been drinking heavily for several days past and his sudden death is ascribed to heart disease superinduced by his excesses. He was about 40 years old and 5 feet 8 inches tall. It is not known where he made his home or whether he had any relatives. The coroner was notified.

LAST HONORS TO AN OLD UNION SOLDIER

Many Well-Known Men and Women Gathered to Pay Tribute to James Atwell.

The funeral services of the late James Atwell were held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the family residence, No. 4216 Fifth avenue, and were attended by a large number of relatives and friends of the deceased, including many of the most prominent people in social and business circles. The entire three floors of the house were crowded.

The body rested in a bed in a room on the second floor and was surrounded by a wealth of beautiful flowers and partially covered with an American flag. Flowers to be seen in great profusion and some of the designs of set pieces were of unsual beauty. His old comrades of Knap's battery sent a large piece in the form of a badge of the association and the Union ex-prisoners of war also sent the badge of their organization in handsome roses. The women's national and local auxiliary to the Union ex-prisoners of war sent a great basketful of American Beauty roses tied with the gold and blue ribbons representing their associations, and the ladies' auxiliary of Post 88, Grand Army of the Republic, also sent a magnificent floral tribute.

The Rev. Dr. R. W. Grange of Ascension church, standing at the head of the stairs, read the burial service of the Episcopal church, and at the close the friends were permitted to view the remains and then passed silently out. The interment will be this morning at 10 o'clock in Homewood cemetery.

The honorary pallbearers will be James Smith, J. B. Larkin, Judge Harry White, Dr. C. C. Wylie, Capt. W. H. Bricker and John Farrel. The active pallbearers, selected from Knap's battery, Post 88, G. A. R., and the Union ex-Prisoners of War, include five past masters of post 88: James P. Stewart, James H. Cochrane, David Nicholls, Charles H. Sheriff and J. D. Walker.

MORTGAGE BURNED.

The Duquesne Heights M. E. Church Held a Celebration Yesterday.

Yesterday was a particularly joyous day for the Methodist Episcopal congregation on Duquesne heights. Special services were held in the morning, at which the Rev. Dr. S. W. McCurdy preached, and in the evening a mortgage, which has burdened the congregation for 10 years, was burned. The services were in charge of the pastor, the Rev. Harry M. Chalfant.

A platform meeting was held in the afternoon. The speakers at the burning of the mortgage were the Rev. S. W. McCurdy, the Rev. F. F. Wilkinson, the Rev. A. H. Acken and the Rev. Dr. T. N. Boyle, presiding elder of this district. The congregation proposes soon to assume a new mortgage for the purpose of improvements. An addition is to be made to the church to make more room for the Sunday school.

SALE OF USED PIANOS AT INTERESTING PRICES

We are going to make a decided stir in music circles this week by offering the most desirable lot of used pianos it has ever been our fortune to have in stock.

The term "Used Pianos" is specially significant in this case. Prices have been greatly reduced on account of the instruments having been used slightly, and the opportunity is most favorable for all who are contemplating the purchase of a piano, especially for practice purposes.

This collection is made up of instruments that have been accumulating since winter, and many of them are practically as good as new. They are such instruments as YOU would care to use. They are such instruments as WE like to sell to particular persons, because we know the merit of these pianos. In a word, it is a real bargain opportunity, such as comes but seldom. Therefore, the importance of embracing this opportunity immediately.

PRICES RANGE FROM $100 UP.

And no one familiar with pianos will need to be urged to come after reading the list of names, which includes such pianos as the A. B. Chase, Fischer, McPhail, Hamilton, Cable, Mendelssohn, Haines, New England, Capen, Winthrop, Howard, Hallet & Cumston, Opera and others.

Please bear in mind that most of these pianos have been used very little, and after receiving the attention that is always bestowed by us upon pianos that have been rented or taken in exchange, they not only are attractive in appearance, but are as good inside as outside.

Parents who have children interested in music, and persons who do not care to pay the full price for an instrument for practice purposes, will never have a better opportunity to get the very instruments they need, and at very much lower prices than would be possible under any other circumstances.

Full details will be furnished upon application, but in justice to yourselves, you should come here and see these instruments, hear their sweet tone and examine them critically. Whether you buy or not is a matter for you to decide. We simply request the privilege of showing you the various makes.

HAVE YOU USE FOR AN ORGAN? SOME IN THIS SALE FROM $15 UP.

In addition to the collection of used pianos, we have a number of slightly used organs, which will be sold this week, including such well-known names as Hamilton, Monarch, Burdett, Estey, Chicago Cottage, Clough & Warren and others.

Anybody needing an organ will do well to see this lot. Prices are not only reasonable, but surprisingly low, and some of the organs are in first-class condition. Take your choice. There is not much to pay in any instance.

Second-hand piano players at specially reduced prices to effect a quick clearance. Monthly payments if you prefer.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Manager Fred Clarke and his champion Pirates crew from Pittsburgh, with a large bucket of whitewash, arrived in the city this morning and succeeded in daubing a fresh coat over Frank Selee's Chicago team at the ball park this afternoon by defeating the Windy City aggregation by a score of 2 to 0.

Not content with one coat of spring white, administered the Chicago team at Exposition park, Pittsburgh, on Saturday, Manager Clarke and every one of his players had a new brush today and each used his to the most artistic advantage and thus partially evened up for the two stinging defeats given the Pirates by Selee's men during the Pittsburgh series last week. The game was close and interesting from start to finish, as attested by the score, and was witnessed by a crowd of 16,500 people.

Deacon Phillippe had charge of the firing line for the Pirates and it was due to his deadly aim and demoralizing fire that the Pirates sent the Chicago crew down to defeat.

Chicago Played Well.

The Chicago aggregation played great ball. They were nimble and fast and showed the young ambitious blood that runs in their veins. With one or two exceptions they played ball that would do credit to any pennant winning team.

Phillippe handed up slant curves to the white uniformed bunch of Manager Selee and baffled the most desperate attempts of the Chicago batsmen to get acquainted with the plate. The Chicago batsmen hit up at it, hit down at it, crossed their fingers and stood still, but the tall Pirate became more merciless every minute. He showed just how powerful a good drop ball is, when in the third inning he caught Tinker, St. Verein and Lynch in succession.

Pitcher St. Verein, one of Manager Selee's finds from the Pacific coast, also had considerable business to transact at the ball park this afternoon. He is not built high like Phillippe, nor does he swing his arm on the high side when he delivers the ball. He is just a well-built youngster who has a very earnest, business-like air and can double himself like a contortionist.

Crowd Cheered Miller.

It is said that he hardened the whippy cords of his brawny left arm in the salt spray of the Pacific. Seventeen thousand fans are satisfied that St. Verein is a good pitcher, in spite of the fact that his troubles all came in one inning.

His support was of the encouraging variety, too. "Dusty" Miller in left field made two catches which were electrifying. His catch of Davis' drive down the left foul line in the third inning brought an ovation from the crowd, but when he went at full speed, diving headlong into the crowd on the left foul line and came up with the ball, after a terrific binge from Leech's bat, the crowd could not sit down, but just got up and howled until it fair like quitting.

"Bobby" Lowe played a pretty game at second base. Joe Tinker's eagerness to play too fast cost St. Verein the game. St. Verein had hit Phillippe. Davis rolled a little sacrifice hit to St. Verein and threw it to Tinker at second to double Phillippe. Tinker tried to play the double so fast that he whisked the ball out of his hands and all were safe.

How Runs Were Made.

The story of the run getting was simple and serious, especially for St. Verein, Tinker and seven other young men.

Phillippe was the first man up in the eighth. St. Verein sent a bender into the opposite pitcher's shirt front which made him grunt. Then came Davis' sacrifice and Tinker's sorrow in trying to hurry up a double play to catch Phillippe at second and Davis at first.

Fred Clarke was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Beaumont slashed a pretty single to right field, Phillippe and Davis scoring, and the game was won.

Clarke was caught on the throw in and was run down between second and third. Wagner nagged and stole second, but the next two men were easy out and it was all over.

Tinker started the ninth with a single. Chance, batting for St. Verein, singled. Lynch sacrificed him a base, going out at first and then Miller and Dexter went out in succession.

PIRATE PLAYERS SELECTED FOR AN ALL-STAR TEAM

Umpire Cantillion Wants the Champions for Western and Honolulu Tour.

MAY PLAY IN EUROPE

President Dreyfuss Figuring on Taking Members of Pittsburgh Team to Most Prominent Cities on Continent if They Win the Pennant.

The majority of the members of the champion Pittsburgh baseball team have been selected to help form an all-star club to tour the west, southwest and Honolulu after the present playing season is over. Many of the Pirate players were approached last week with the proposition to take the trip, and all signified their willingness to join the all-star team, providing President Dreyfuss does not tour Europe with the champions.

Umpire Joe Cantillion of the National league is the leader of the touring movement. Last year, after the close of the playing season, Umpire Cantillion took a team of stars of the American league through the west and wound up the trip in California, where a series of 32 exhibition games were played. The trip was a success financially and almost every other way.

Among the members of last year's all-star American league team were: Lajoie, Rube Waddell and Win Mercer. The team made a great hit with Southern California people and proved to be a great drawing card in every city visited.

Arrangements Being Planned.

This early in the season arrangements are being made for another trip under the management of Umpire Cantillion. While in Pittsburgh last week, officiating in the Cincinnati and Chicago series of games, the new handler of the indicator in the National laid bare his plans for the winter tours. He proposes to take two teams to the coast this year and will even go as far as Honolulu with both teams, where they will play for two or three weeks.

The plans as revealed to the Pirates last week are to have two all-star teams, one made up from the best players of American league and the other from the stars of the National. About 15 men will be carried on each team. The start will be made from Chicago about October 15.

One team will go to the southwest and the other directly west. The teams are to meet in either New Mexico or Colorado and play together from there to California. The teams will play but a few games in California before sailing for Honolulu. At the Hawaiian capital the clubs will give exhibitions of the greatest national game in America for two weeks and will probably spend the remaining week in touring the other cities and towns and in meeting local baseball organizations.

California Schedule.

After completing their tour of the Hawaiian islands the two teams will be brought to California, where a schedule will be arranged for them. They will probably play more games in the coast state this year than last, and with the additional champion players from the National league the venture this year bids fair to outdo last year's tour.

When the members of the champions were apprised of the plans by Umpire Cantillon last week they looked on the proposition with favor and all promised to consider it more fully and report later. It is possible that a greater part of the team will compose the club to be selected from the National league.

All that saved the members of the team from attaching their signatures to contracts to play on the western tour was a proposition from President Dreyfuss made some days ago. It is the intention of the Pittsburgh leader to take the Pirates on a tour of Europe after the close of the playing season here.

If the Pirates win the pennant again this year the trip is almost assured, but if the flag is captured by some other team in the league it will lead President Dreyfuss to do a little studying and figuring as to whether the Pittsburghers would prove a good drawing card in Europe.

Notes of Yesterday's Games.

Phillippe's record in letting the Chicago team down with three hits yesterday was equaled at Exposition park Saturday when Schoolmaster Sam Leever did the same trick.

Hans Wagner had the only error credited to the champions yesterday, but he accepted six out of seven chances.

Sorrel Top Beaumont loomed up with two out of the five hits secured by the Pirates. Wonder if Clarke still wants to lay the great center fielder on the bench.

Just to get even, St. Verein took a poke at Phillippe's ribs, and that jab was responsible for Chicago's defeat.

Tommy Leach for the first time since the opening of the season failed to get a hit in yesterday's game.

Ritchey accepted seven chances at second without an error. Bransfield had 16 put outs at first.

There must have been lots of bunting in yesterday's contest. Phillippe and St. Verein each had four assists.

Clarke is running bases more daringly than ever this season. The fans think he is taking too many chances.

BEST DAYS OF GAINES FIELD ARE NOW PAST

W. L. Fuller of Geological Survey Says More Gushers Are Possible.

HAS TWO DISTINCT POOLS

Peculiarities of the Atwell Sand in the Watrous Group of Wells—New Drillings Meeting With but Small Success—History of Production.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
603 Fifteenth St., N. W.
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27.

The Gaines oil field in Pennsylvania is the topic of a special report by Myron L. Fuller which has just been made public by the geological survey. The report says that the Gaines oil field includes two distinct pools, separated by an unproductive area of a little over half a mile.

The westerly, or Watrous pool, yields its oil from a fine-grained sandstone, known to drillers as the Atwell sand. The easterly, or Manhattan pool, derives its oil from a series of shales, shaly sandstones, etc., known to drillers as the Blossburg formations. The total length of the Watrous producing belt is a little less than two miles, and its greatest breadth (near Watrous) is from 600 to 800 feet. It is cut four times by the meanders of Pine creek. The Manhattan pool, roughly oval in outline, has an east-west diameter of about half a mile; the north-south diameter being slightly greater.

In 1884, 1885 and 1886 wells were put down near Gaines with but slender results. In 1898 a successful well was sunk upon the Atwell farm east of Watrous, and the name "Atwell" was given to the producing sand found at depths of from 700 to nearly 900 feet. Almost immediately the Blossburg formation, about two miles to the east and 200 feet above the Atwell sand, was discovered. In 1900 the wells in the Atwell sand increased to nearly 70, and the producing wells in the Blossburg formation increased to about 30.

In the Atwell sand the wells generally had a small but fairly constant yield; in the Blossburg formation many drillings resulted in failure, and the flows, large at first, declined rapidly, and, in many cases, were soon exhausted. The wells in the Watrous pool are too much crowded; in several instances they are about 100 feet from one another, whereas to secure the most oil at the least cost they should be at least 300 or 400 feet apart.

The oil of the Atwell sand, Mr. Fuller thinks, probably belongs to a single pool, the differences in rate and amount of flow being due to differences in porosity and fineness of the sandstone.

There is no difference in the quality of the oil obtained from the Atwell sand and from the "Blossburg formation." It sells in the market for 15 cents less per barrel than the Tiona oil, but commands a better price than any oil outside the Pennsylvania field.

New wells sunk in the Gaines field are meeting with small success. With regard to the future of the Gaines oil field and its vicinity, Mr. Fuller concludes that the wells of the Atwell sand probably will continue to produce oil in limited amounts for some time to come; that small flows might possibly be obtained by a limited number of new wells in the Atwell sand, and that it is not impossible, though improbable, that further "gushers" may be found in the "Blossburg formations." The probability of any material extension of the present field is extremely slight.

SENATE PHILIPPINE DEBATE MAY DRAG ON

All the Speeches Now in Prospect Are on the Negative Side—Appropriations Well Advanced.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27.—The plans of the senate for the week do not extend beyond the continuation of the debate on the Philippine government bill and consideration of minor matters when there is no one prepared to speak on the Philippine bill. There is no prospect thus far for speeches in support of that measure, and, consequently, all the talk is likely to continue to be on the negative side of the question. Senator Hoar has made known his intention to speak on the bill, but it is not expected that he will be heard during the present week.

In the committees the inquiries into the sugar question, as related to Cuba, and into Gen. Crozier's connection with gun carriage inventions probably will be begun. The committee on the Philippines also will proceed with its investigation into the condition of affairs in the Philippines.

There is a miscellaneous program ahead for the house this week. Tomorrow the special rule for consideration of the omnibus public building bill will be brought in and passed. Tuesday the omnibus bill will be passed. Wednesday consideration of the agricultural appropriation bill will be resumed and after it is disposed of the District of Columbia appropriation bill will be taken up and probably passed before the end of the week. With its passage only two appropriation bills will remain to be acted on by the house—the naval and general deficiency bills. Seldom have the appropriation bills been so well advanced at a long session of congress.

MONEY GOSPEL SPREAD.

Report on Banking and Currency Bill Sent to 1,026,816 People.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27.—The majority report on the house banking and currency bill is being circulated to an extent probably without precedent. Chairman Fowler of the committee presenting the bill said today:

"I am sending the report to 1,026,816 persons—135,159 clergymen, 129,564 physicians, 83,687 lawyers, 95,000 teachers, principals and professors; 16,225 banks and bankers, 21,000 newspapers and periodicals, 103,491 manufacturers, 32,690 jobbers and 410,000 farmers. The reform of our finances and currency is, to my mind, the most important question now before the American people. Especially are those who use their credit, or the borrowers of money, the true builders of our nation, deeply and materially interested."

TEAM FOR WHEELING.

Strong Effort Will Be Made to Have Baseball in the Nail City.

WHEELING, W. VA., April 27.—(Special.)—Wheeling will be represented by L. F. Hallerat at a meeting of owners and managers of independent ball teams to be held in Zanesville tomorrow.

The purpose is to organize a circuit and arrange a schedule. A strong effort is being made to maintain interest in the game here through the transfer of the strong independent club of Canton.

Sunday games will be played in all the cities of the proposed circuit, thereby virtually insuring the financial success of the various teams.

An Exciting Cock Fight.

CUMBERLAND, MD., April 27.—(Special.)—The most exciting cock fight in the history of this section took place at Job, W. Va., yesterday in the presence of 2,000 people. Ashford Greider of Horton, W. Va., imported 10 fine game cocks and issued a challenge to Ash Robinson of Job. The first four chicks introduced by Greider were killed in the first round. Robinson's chickens came out victorious. He is said to have won $600. Much money changed hands. Another fight is being arranged for the near future.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

Operators in the lower southwest fields were a little more successful in finding good producers during the past week than for some months. In addition to two gushers a large number of wells above the average were found in nearly all of the old fields.

The South Penn Oil Company started the week's developments by drilling in a gusher on the S. S. Eddy farm, located in the north end of the deep sand development west of Blacksville, Greene county. The initial performance for the first 24 hours was 1,200 barrels, but at the end of the week had declined to 500 barrels a day. It is in territory that has been partly defined and has been prolific of good gas wells on the east and west sides. The size of the well, however, is such as to give an impetus to operations in that locality.

The next best producer was landed by the same company and is located in the northeast extension of the new Gordon sand development, in Marion and Wetzel counties, on the W. N. Cunningham farm, a mile northeast of the same company's good producer on the Jacob Cunningham farm. This one started at 25 barrels an hour, but did not keep up that speed for more than a few hours, and at the close of the week was down to 350 barrels a day. This well at the northeast and the Fairfield Peterson at the southwest show the producing territory to be two miles and a half long on the northeast and southwest line.

In the Keener sand territory, on Big Knot run, Clay district, Ritchie county, Mallory Bros. & Co. drilled in their No. 4 on the C. C. Weekley farm and secured a producer that started at 15 barrels an hour after it was shot, but soon declined, and at the end of the fourth day was down to less than 200 barrels a day. In the same district the South Penn Oil Company got a 70-barrel producer at its test well on the Stewart farm. Operations on Big Knot are picking up and promise to become active during the early spring months.

Two and one-half miles northeast of Salem, Harrison county, R. Hilton & Co. drilled in a test well on the J. S. Dennison farm and got a 250-barrel producer. This is not new territory, the South Penn Oil Company having got some very fine wells on the S. C. Barnes farm, adjoining the Dennison.

On the west side of the Salem development is a block of Gordon sand territory that is supplying very good wells. The South Penn Oil Company drilled in its No. 12 on the Smith Varner farm and the well placed 100 barrels to its credit the first 24 hours.

Northeast of the fifth sand development on Indian Fork, Gilmer county, the South Penn's No. 5 on the R. J. Dyer farm is a better producer than its average well in that locality. After being shot it produced 35 barrels the first 24 hours. In the Beulls Mills district nothing better than small producers is now the rule.

In Marshall county the producing wells are holding up and a little new territory of importance was added during the week. There is work enough under way in this county to increase the production of the Fish Creek and "Little Germany" field. The daily output is still about 1,800 barrels a day.

There has not been the revival in operations in the shallow sand territory that was expected with the return of spring. The roads are still in very bad condition and it will probably be a month or more before energetic operations will begin.

The test wells completed and drilling far in advance of developments to the southwest have not brought to light any new pools. Calhoun and Roane counties are not doing anything to bring them to the front. Experimental work in the last-named county has brought nothing but disappointment.

Southeastern Ohio.

Interest on the Ohio side is centered mainly in the new Kenner sand pool near Jerusalem. The Unity Oil Company drilled in its test well on the J. R. Mann farm, located 600 feet south of its producer on the Harner farm, and got a 70-barrel pumper. The Harper farm well is holding up at 250 barrels a day. Additional wells are all that will be necessary to increase the production of this pool. For some time each well completed in this territory will be of interest for the reason that it will be a wildcat, and have an important bearing on an extension in some direction.

The shallow sand territory in Morgan county was not able to supply any new gushers. Operations are quite active, but on the whole the dusters outnumber the producers.

The local fields remain without new attractions. There is work under way in the Murdocksville and Turkeyfoot extensions, but both have been fully defined and will not increase their production.

AMNESTY IS THE FIRST PRINCIPLE OF CHRISTIANITY

President Patton, of Princeton, Urges Ministers to Hold Fast to It.

OCCUPIED LOCAL PULPIT

Sermon in Third Presbyterian Church Drew Large Congregation — Says World Is Getting Better Every Day, but Much Is Yet to Be Done.

The Rev. Dr. Francis L. Patton, president of Princeton university, preached yesterday morning in the Third Presbyterian church, of which the Rev. Dr. W. L. McEwan is pastor. The presence of one of the most scholarly men in America drew a large audience. Dr. Patton's sermon was based on Ephesians iv.:8. He called upon his audience to make Christ, and Christ only their study.

"The Christian life is an interesting one, but only counts when one keeps before the mind's eye the head, the fount, the soul of Christian life, Jesus Christ. The theories that constitute Christian life may differ in certain respects, according to the mind of the individual, but it is true that the Christian life is not a philosophy, not a crusade, not a brotherhood, nor altogether a proclamation of amnesty. But if your modern-day preacher is to take any one of these principles, let it be, by all means, the last. If any one preacher of the gospel of Christ takes a one-sided portion of the Christian faith as constituting the whole of the Christian faith, let him take Amnesty, the proclamation that all men are sinners, that Jesus, Son of the High God, is their Redeemer.

Christ's Personality.

"It is not so important as to what Christ said as to who Christ is. The biography of any man may have but three excuses; he must be a representative man, an enunciator of great ideas, or have lived a marvelously pure life.

"Look to your Saviour, my friends! How, think you, stands He with this code? Measure Jesus Christ by these canons and then flaunt it into my face that His life is not worth the studying.

"First, he was representative—why? Because the age in which he lived could boast of no greater man.

"Second, he was an enunciator of great ideas. What proof have we of this? In our modern-day life there is not one department but is influenced by the Christ-life. Show me a corner of the world wherein His name is not known. Show me where His name is not held in holy awe and reverence.

"Thirdly, His was a stainless life. He was a Being separated from all the world. His purity of purpose, of desire, of thought, of every faculty, was the one predominating part of His character that baffled His enemies; aye, more, won from them encomiums.

World Is Advancing.

"Culture is measured according to conduct. The world is better today than it has been for many a century. We are forging ahead. We are advancing. This is a period of history-making in some respects. Our national and social life compares well with that of any nation on the earth. What, we have much good yet to do; we have still something to accomplish. And so, too, has the entire world.

"After 1900 years of civilization under a Christian code of morals we have yet to learn from the "Prince of Peace" that war is not a wholesome thing, either for soul or body. It is not good for brothers to war against one another.

"In the social life there is yet a lesson to learn from Christ. Of course, we don't steal our neighbor's pig, or his cat; but even a breath that would injure his or her reputation is un-Godlike, un-Christ-like. Yes, we shall always have need of Christ as the Great Book in which to study the principles of Christianity, of Christian living."

THE REV. DR. YOUNG WELCOMED HOME

Pastor of Second Presbyterian Church Preached the First Sermon Since His Return.

The Second Presbyterian church, at Penn avenue and Seventh street, was crowded yesterday morning by people anxious to welcome back to his pulpit the Rev. Dr. Edward Young, who has just returned from a visit to the Holy Land and other Mediterranean countries. So large was the crowd that a number of people could not be accommodated in the church and had to be turned away.

Dr. Young took for his text, Numbers xiii:17 and Luke xiii:34: "Go up into the mountain and see the land." "How often would I have gathered thy children together, as a hen her brood under her wings, and ye would not."

After giving a description of Mount Olivet, and Palestine as seen from there, the picture still fresh in his mind from a recent visit to the historic spot, Dr. Young said:

"Was not this land intended for a faith fitted to all ages, places, peoples? Many a county in the United States is larger than Dan to Beersheba; yet in that space are recorded all the zones and all the soils and all the occupations of mankind. Mount Hermon, say the Arabs, wears winter on his forehead, spring on his breast, holds autumn in his lap and has summer crouching at his feet. Oh, now I partly understand why this country was selected for the Bible history—it is all countries in one. Speak the language of its scenery and its customs and you have a medium of expression for every region the sun shines on."

SERMON PREACHED TO ODD FELLOWS

THE REV. DR. TERBUSH SPOKE TO ST. CLAIR LODGE, NO. 362.

He Took for His Text the Golden Rule and Applied It to the Work Done by the Society During 83 Years Ended Yesterday.

In celebration of the 83d anniversary of the establishment of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in the United States, Odd Fellow lodges all over the city attended church services yesterday and heard sermons appropriate to the occasion. St. Clair lodge No. 362 attended the West End Methodist Episcopal church in the evening in a body and was addressed by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. G. W. Terbush. Dr. Terbush took for his text Matthew 7:12: "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you do ye even so to them."

These words of the golden rule, the preacher said, seemed to him an appropriate theme for a sermon to a company of Odd Fellows, inasmuch as the object of the fraternity was to embody in the mutual activities of its members that beautiful Christian law.

"One desirous of following the golden rule," he said, "should put the other man in his place, and the duty he imposes on the other person will help him to ascertain his own duty better than if he confines his attention to himself. When you hear a sermon that impresses you, you remark on coming out of the church: 'Didn't he give it to them?' not, 'Didn't he give it to us?' The other part of the process is to put yourself in the other man's place."

Immoderate Demands Wrong.

Many men acted, he continued, not as they wanted others to act to them, but rather as they expected them to act. The rule of putting the other man in one's own place, if heeded, would serve as a check to immoderate demands upon others.

Querying whether the literal interpretation of the words of the text gave its full meaning, Dr. Terbush answered in the negative. "If it does," he said, "then Christ authorizes a man to flatter another if he wants the other to flatter him, to tell an untruth, to practice dishonesty for the seeming advantage of another, if the other should practice dishonesty for the seeming advantage of him."

Before the rule could be a sufficient guide, he pursued, we must have a standard that would control rightly our own inner life. The rule was intended for those who are trying to the best of their ability to do the will of God, otherwise it would lead to practices in utter inharmony with God's thought. To love God was the highest law, to love one's neighbor was the second highest law; the golden rule was but an amplification of these laws and both must be followed that the inharmonious practices might be avoided.

Golden Rule Applicable Always.

There was not a relation in life, said the speaker, that could not be regulated by the golden rule, for it applied to the home, business, social, professional and church relations. It applied to individuals and to aggregations of individuals like, for example, the Odd Fellows.

Dr. Terbush read some statistics showing that, since 1830, more than $74,000,000 has been distributed by the Odd Fellows in the United States for sick and death benefits and the care of the widows and orphans. He questioned whether if these things had been left to individual action anywhere near that amount of money would have been spent. He concluded:

"Conceive a perfect application of this rule in the varied relations of life, then imagine if possible the moral beauty, grandeur and glory that would be the inevitable result. Such a transformation of our globe would present a sight more inspiring than that in view of which the morning stars sang together and all the sons of God shouted for joy. Shall we not do all we can to bring about such a transformation? Therefore, all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you do ye even so to them."

There were few churches in the two cities in which memorial services for the order were not held. More than a score of the pastors announced special services in the evening and some for the morning and all were well attended. Services were held in St. James' Episcopal church, in the First Methodist Protestant, in the Union Centenary Methodist Episcopal, Sharpsburg; in the Washington Avenue Methodist Episcopal church and in various churches along the Monongahela valley.

FATHER MICHAEL'S TALK AT THE BIJOU

"Faith, Superstition and Reason" Was the Subject of a Lecture to Non-Catholics.

"Faith, Superstition and Reason" was the subject of the Rev. Father Michael's third lecture of the series to non-Catholics at the Bijou theater yesterday afternoon. The lectures, beginning with that of next Sunday, will open at 8 o'clock. Father Michael said in part:

Faith and reason are the two great factors by which man is made lord of the visible creations and lifted into grace and fellowship with God. Both are the gifts of God and do not militate against each other, but support one another. Reason is the foundation, faith the superstructure. Faith is not against reason, but above reason.

All appreciate reason and dread perhaps nothing so much as its partial or entire loss. Insanity is the most terrible calamity that can befall man in his physical condition. On the contrary, weak faith, or the entire loss of faith are by many neither missed nor lamented. The cause of this unhealthy condition of mind is that men know not what faith is, nor what are its effects—hence faith is underrated.

Faith is twofold, human and divine. Human faith of which trust and confidence in our fellow man are manifestations, is a gift of nature, by virtue of which we believe and have confidence in the words and actions of our neighbor. Like any other faculty it may be developed or it may be diminished.

BISHOP EARL CRANSTON MADE SCHOLARLY TALK

Christ Methodist Episcopal Church Was Crowded With Listeners.

AN AGE OF SPECIALISTS

Mentioned Example of Specialism, in Person of Apostle Philip, and Explained How a Minister Is a Specialist in Interpreting God's Word.

Christ Methodist Episcopal church, East End, has rarely seated a larger and more distinguished congregation than that which gathered within its sacred walls, yesterday morning to hear Bishop Earl Cranston. Among the distinguished persons present were Congressman C. E. Littlefield of Maine and Secretary of the Treasury Leslie

BISHOP EARL CRANSTON, Who Preached Yesterday Morning in Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, East End.

M. Shaw. The Rev. Dr. E. A. Blake, the new pastor of this congregation, assisted Bishop Cranston at the morning service. The bishop's sermon was based on the text Acts viii:30, "And Philip ran thither to him and heard him read the prophet Esaias, and said: Understandest thou what thou readest?"

"This," said the bishop, "is an age of specialists. The skilled trades are falling to pieces. Men nowadays are devoting themselves to some particular part of a trade, or of a system of education. Such is the result of our modern progress, our modern education. And it is good.

"The underlying principle is that a man who devotes himself to imbibing water from every fount rarely becomes strong intellectually. He has a smattering of everything, and in the end has nothing. He knows no one system thoroughly. If he is fond of languages he studies a bit here, a bit there, and when all is told scarcely knows one language thoroughly. Such a conglomeration of ideas may show a bright mind, but not a steady one; not a mind that would sit down in the solitude of a room or a cell and get up only when it had thoroughly mastered what it had proposed.

Philip a Specialist.

"The text which I have chosen this morning amply illustrates these facts. Here we have a man from Ethiopia, a great man in many ways; he was a Eunich of great authority under Candace, queen of that country; his was a bright mind, his a tentative mind; he was versed in the literature of that period, but when he came to the prophecies of Esaias his mind failed him. He could not comprehend the sayings of the prophet.

"Philip, the apostle, versed in the prophecies came to him and said: 'Understandest thou what thou readest?'

"Listen to the man from Ethiopia: 'How can I, except some man guide me?' With all his wisdom he was humble enough to confess the truth. He could not interpret the prophecies and frankly confessed. Philip, here, was a specialist. It was his work, his mission. And the Eunich, knowing this, was guided by him.

"It is inconceivable that Christ had left the men who were to introduce His teaching to the world ignorant of the signs of interpretation. It was their mission, I say, and Christ trained them for it. They were every one of them specialists. Christ Himself paved the way for this instruction. He began by reading the prophecies concerning Himself to the people, and after His resurrection He recalled to some of them the meaning of these prophecies.

The Bible for the Masses.

"The text of the Gospel means much, implies volumes. It means, in a sense, that God intended the Bible for the masses. He intended this Holy Book for the common people. How different is this great book from all others, and how easily is it misinterpreted when the Spirit is not our guide, when we have not the 'specialist' to interpret. Ordinary books treat of subjects that may be dealt with in language of the day, but the Bible is an attempt to put divine thought into human symbols of expression.

"The people have no words to tell what they do not know, and, not knowing the truths which God desires to teach in revelation, the Bible is the book in which an inadequate language is stretched and accommodated to a great purpose.

"In this use of words it is evident that much figurative language is used and a wide range given for parables and other forms of object lessons. The author of a book is the best capable to explain it, hence Jesus said the Spirit should remind His followers of divine sayings and teachings. The simple minded who submit themselves to the guidance of the Spirit reaches the highest meaning of the word of God.

"The world of letters oftentimes conveys a wrong sense of God's word, and again frequently is unfair. 'Christ said: 'I came not to send peace, but the sword.' Now the world, because of this, would make Christ the author of war, bloody and unjust, when in truth He simply gave it new ideas of God and religion, which, like all other ideas, had in themselves a revolutionary force. The absence of such living ideas means stagnation. China is stagnant because of this peculiar want. Who of you would carry the world back to the pre-Christian era? Christ struck a deathblow to Phariseeism, formality, selfishness, and brought the world to its proper standard.

AN ORDINANCE—Providing for the licensing of peddlers, regulating the use of metal plates issued to them, providing a penalty for the violation of the provisions hereof, and accepting the provisions of an act of assembly relative to the same, approved June 10, 1881.

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the select and common councils of the city of Allegheny, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this ordinance, it shall not be lawful for any person or persons (except soldiers, sailors and cripples) to be employed or concerned in the business or employment of hawking, peddling or selling at retail, produce or merchandise, or either or any of them, from house to house upon the public streets, lanes, alleys, highways, wharves, railroad depots, or other public places, within the limits of the city of Allegheny, without having first taken out a license as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of the city treasurer, upon application of any person or persons, who may desire to be engaged, employed or concerned in the business aforesaid, and upon payment by them into the city treasury of the amounts hereinafter specified, to issue a license to such person or persons authorizing and allowing them to transact such business until the 1st day of March next succeeding the date of said certificate.

Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of the city treasurer at the time such license is taken out to issue a metal plate having thereon engraved the words "Licensed Peddler," and also the year for which said license is granted, to any person or persons who use any kind of vehicle in said business and who pay for said license as hereinafter set forth.

In addition to the cost of license, as hereinafter provided, the person or persons using vehicles as aforesaid shall pay for said metal plate a sum not exceeding fifty (50) cents.

Sec. 4. The rates payable for licenses shall be as follows, to-wit: All peddlers using vehicles drawn by one or more horses shall pay the sum of fifty ($50.00) dollars per annum for each vehicle so used or employed. All persons using pushcarts, wheelbarrows or other vehicles shall pay the sum of thirty-six ($36.00) dollars for each vehicle so used. Footpeddlers, to-wit: Those using packs, trays, baskets, or other articles for transporting produce, merchandise, etc., shall pay the sum of twenty-four ($24.00) dollars per annum. Provided, that any person taking out a license as provided for by this ordinance, after the 1st day of August in any year shall be entitled to an abatement of one-twelfth of said license fee for each and every month which shall have elapsed since the 1st day of August, and provided, further, that in the peddling of any merchandise not more than two persons shall be permitted to accompany each vehicle and only one person to each pushcart, wheelbarrow, pack, tray or basket.

Sec. 5. Nothing herein contained shall be construed so as to prevent farmers, gardeners or dairymen from selling the products of their farms, gardens or dairies, or milkmen selling or peddling milk from wagons, nor is it intended to prevent any person from selling at wholesale to merchants.

Sec. 6. Every person licensed in accordance with this ordinance shall permanently attach to each and every vehicle used by him, her or them, the license plate issued by the city treasurer, and also a board or other suitable placard setting forth the number of the license procured by such person from the city treasurer.

Sec. 7. The city of Allegheny, a city of the second class of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, hereby accepts the provisions of the act of assembly entitled "An act to prohibit the peddling or hawking of produce and merchandise in cities of the second and third classes within this commonwealth without a license," approved the 10th day of June, 1881.

Sec. 8. It shall be the duty of the ordinance officer of the city of Allegheny or of any of the policemen of said city upon view or information made and warrant issued to arrest any and all persons employed or concerned in the business of hawking, peddling or selling at retail produce or merchandise, or either or any of them, within the limits of the city of Allegheny without first taking out the required license and paying the fee therefor, and to bring such person or persons before the city recorder or before any of the aldermen of Allegheny, or police magistrates thereof, and upon being adjudged guilty by said city recorder or police magistrates such person or persons shall be fined the sum of fifty ($50.00) dollars for each offense, which shall be recoverable with costs, together with judgment of imprisonment in the Allegheny county jail or Allegheny county workhouse not exceeding thirty (30) days, if the amount of such judgment and costs shall not be paid, and it shall further be the duty of the ordinance officer, or any of the policemen of said city upon view or information made and warrant issued to arrest the city and all persons violating any of the other provisions of this ordinance, and to bring such person or persons before the city recorder or police magistrate and upon being adjudged guilty by such city recorder or police magistrate, such person or persons shall be fined for such violation not exceeding fifty ($50.00) dollars for any one offense recoverable with costs, together with judgment of imprisonment in the Allegheny county jail or Allegheny county workhouse not exceeding thirty (30) days, if the amount of such judgment and costs shall not be paid.

Sec. 9. That so much of any ordinance as may conflict with or be supplied by the foregoing, be and the same is hereby repealed.

NEARLY $7,000,000 LESS.

Pittsburgh Bank Exchanges for the Week Much Smaller Than the Same Time Last Year.

Pittsburgh bank clearings for the week ending yesterday were nearly $7,000,000 less than those for the corresponding week of last year, while those of the week ending April 19, 1902, were about $9,500,000. Compared with the preceding week there was a gain of about $80,000. Yesterday's figures were $156,823 less than those for the same day last year, but almost $1,600,000 greater than the preceding Saturday's. There has been no appreciable change in the condition of the local money market for some time. Funds are abundant, some institutions, and others are fully loaned up. Sentiment is easier, but the rate for call and time loans remains unchanged at 5@6 per cent.

The detailed clearing house reports are as follows:

Week ending—	Exchanges.	Balances.
Yesterday	$7,803,222	$1,077,566 44
Previous Saturday	8,518,515 17	849,668 65
Last year	7,962,048 11	1,601,248 59
Yesterday's decrease	$156,823 89.

The figures of the clearing house for the week ending yesterday, compared with those for the preceding week and the same week last year, are as follows:

	Exchanges.	Balances.
This week	$44,377,041 34	$6,514,012 70

RIVER INTERESTS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, April 27.—River at 6 p. m., 16.9 feet and rising. Weather clear and pleasant. Packets in and out on time. The wind subsided during the night. The Annie L. arrived from above and left for Marietta and Henry Debus arrived from below with tows of lumber. The James Moren passed up with empties at 10 a. m. The Dearies Hall left at 4 o'clock for Augusta to assist the Jack Frost with a tow of logs, which are bound for Louisville. The Frost has in tow the largest tow ever attempted to be towed by any boat on the inland waters of the United States. The Charlie Brown went to Pittsburgh. The Wash Honshell and Avalon are due here from Pittsburgh to Cairo with a tow. The Fred Wilson and tow left for Cairo. The water below is scant for towboats.

WHEELING.—River 6 feet 9 inches and falling. Weather clear and cool. Departed, Ben Hur, Pittsburgh, 8 a. m.; Kanawha, Pittsburgh, 8 a. m.; Keystone State, Pittsburgh, 11 a. m.; Lorena, Zanesville, noon; Virginia, Cincinnati, 2 p. m. Up with empties, Sam Brown, 9 a. m.; Ed Roberts, 2 p. m.

MARIETTA.—River, 7.2 feet and falling. Weather pleasant. Virginia and Lorena down 10 p. m.; Boaz up with empties.

PARKERSBURG.—River 8 feet and falling. Weather clear and warm. Down, Virginia at 11 a. m for Cincinnati.

BROWNSVILLE.—River 6 feet and stationary. Weather clear.

POINT PLEASANT.—River 8 feet 3 inches and falling. Weather clear and pleasant. Up, Courier and G. W. Thomas. Down, Greenwood.

WARREN.—River 2 feet. Weather fair and warmer.

HUNTINGTON.—River 12.4 feet and falling. Weather clear and pleasant. Queen City up.

OIL CITY.—River 2 feet 4 inches and stationary. Weather clear and cool.

Packets Leaving Today.

Keystone State, Cincinnati, 4 p. m.
Ben Hur, Parkersburg, noon.

News of the Rivers.

John Rawlins and George Bailes are the pilots on the Island Queen.

The towboat Defender is due at Louisville from Cairo with a tow of empties.

James Martin and Robert Holden are piloting the Joseph B. Williams south on the present trip.

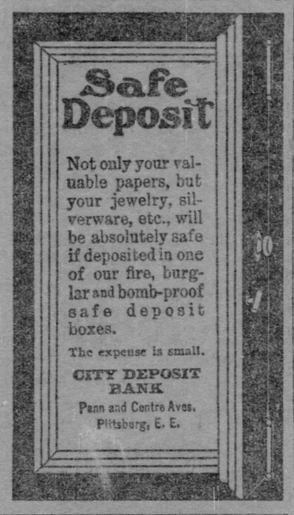
Many persons are visiting the City of Pittsburgh Wreck, leaving Paducah daily on the Dick Fowler, the Paducah and Cairo packet.

The Kanawha, which arrived in port, will not depart until tomorrow afternoon for Charleston. The Ben Hur and Keystone State are also at the wharf loading.

The tug Thesus returned to Cairo Friday from the wreck of the City of Pittsburgh, having on board seven bodies, victims of the disaster.

The towboat Jessie was built at Gallipolis in the year 1870 by Capt. T. Spencer and was named after Miss Jessie Walker. Capt. Zenas Baxter and Capt Ira Huntington both did their first boating on the Kanawha. When she bured her cabin was a part of the texas of the old White Collar Line packet Potomac.

The many friends of Capts. John S. Phillips and Dana Scott and the towing members of the ill-fated City of Pittsburgh hope to see them in the near future running another fine sidewheel boat out of this port.—Louisville Courier Journal.



Weekly Review of Market Quotations

Provision Prices Advance. Potatoes Continue Firm. Butter May Decline.

Summary for Last Week.

Hay, which was much stronger early in the week, was a little easier during the latter part, and quotations for timothy declined, though the drop was very slight, and receipts have been light for top grades. Corn and oats have marched steadily forward, and prices are considerably above those ruling on Monday of last week. White middlings and bran are also higher. Rye is some stronger, and wheat is quoted above figures prevailing several days ago, but these quotations are merely nominal, and scarcely any business in this line has been transacted.

In groceries the important feature was the change in flour, which advanced 10 cents a barrel and was ruling steady at the close of the week, although the wheat market was not quite as strong as when the advance in flour was made. Coffee and sugar are unchanged, with neither firm nor firm. Navy beans have taken on a little additional strength, and jobbing houses which were inclined to make concessions have stiffened up their views, bold on quotations. Canned goods and dried fruits are in about the same condition as they were a week ago.

Potatoes are higher; the price from store is about 40 to 10 a bushel, with some holders reported to be demanding that price on tracks. Apples have been a little steadier for strictly fancy lots, but there is very strong quotations for old being well maintained, with new commencing to cut some figure in the market, but not yet plentiful enough to really affect the general situation. Onions have almost disappeared from the market. Horseradish is higher. Beets are higher and green onions lower. String beans have been less abundant for several days, and are advanced. Radishes are plentiful with quotations weak. Rhubarb and asparagus are both lower. Tomatoes have had their ups and downs, fluctuating from day to day, but close the week cheaper than at the opening. Strawberries are commanding about the same figures as on last Monday, but stocks are less plentiful. Carolina strawberries will be in the market in a week or two, and the season will then really commence. Oranges and lemons show little change from quotations of last week.

Butter declined 3 cents a pound last Monday, and indications favor another drop of perhaps 3 cents a pound today, to be decided when the 12½in board of trade meets this afternoon; but the fact that offerings in Chicago were made much below figures that have been ruling of late will probably cause a decline. Cheese is unchanged and steady; some new New Yorks have made their appearance in the market and Ohios will come forward this week. Eggs show a tendency upward, owing to easier conditions in the west.

Poultry is ruling at unchanged figures with supplies limited, but the west has commenced to move chickens slightly, and lower markets may possibly follow.

Provision dealers have again advanced prices for hams, breakfast bacon and lard.

TELEPHONES IN ALL PARTS OF CITY USELESS

Striking Linemen Say That They Have Been Aided by the Elements.

MUCH DAMAGE BY STORM

Many of the Wires Have Been Broken and Blown Down by the Wind and There Are No Men Available to Repair the Breaks.

Pranks of the elements on the last of March and in April, particularly on Saturday, have contributed to make the strike of the linemen a serious matter to the telephone and electric light and power companies. The strike leaders say that the Pittsburgh Bell telephone interests, the Central District and Printing Telegraph Company, the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company are seriously handicapped without their forces of linemen and with their wires down, terminal heads burned out and cables badly spliced and with new work on cables exposed and subject to breaks at any time.

Strike leaders estimate that fully a third of the service of the local Pittsburgh Bell interest is crippled, while the other interests are seriously handicapped by breaks prior to and since the strike started on April 1. Thomas Steen, president of local No. 14, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said yesterday:

"The elements seem to be proving that we are right in our proposition for what we regard as only a just recognition from our employers with a very small advance in wages, which they are paying to the new men taking our places. The serious breaks in the Bell telephone system when the strike started have not been repaired since, and others are occurring almost daily.

"The Saturday storm augmented the crippled condition of the systems to a large degree. On a Bell pole in First avenue, near Ferry street, four telephone lines and a generator broke and this throws out about 20 telephones. A break in Center avenue near Kirkpatrick street on a terminal head threw out about 30 telephones. Near St. Agnes church, Soho, eight or ten Bell wires are down, throwing out a big system of 'phones.

"The storm crossed wires of the Allegheny County Light Company in Allegheny, and threw practically all of the city in darkness Saturday night.

Darkness in East End.

"The district surrounding Collins avenue and Station street, East End, was in darkness Saturday night. At Craft avenue and Emily street there was a break in the light system, which threw about 10 blocks in darkness.

"The Allegheny County Light Company has about six linemen working and 12 carbon setters of the company are working as linemen. These men are having their work doubled.

"The Postal Telegraph Cable Company is not seriously crippled because its foremen are working in our places, although the messenger calls of this company are in bad shape. This company had laid out a large amount of repair and new work for this time, which is not being done. At critical points there may be breaks at any time, which will be serious and which the foreman will have trouble in repairing.

A. T. Sinclair, one of the strike committee, said: "A few days ago I went into the Western Union office with a message for my people at my home in Titusville. I marked the message 'Rush.'

"The receiving clerk took it and marked out the word, substituting 'subject to indefinite delay.' Of course, he did not know that I was carrying the blue card of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

"The Western Union lines are badly broken between here and Greensburg on the line of the Pennsylvania railroad. A message for Philadelphia is sent to Buffalo, relayed, sent to New York, relayed, and then sent to Philadelphia."

President Thomas Steen said further of the conditions of the companies: "The bell company, which has only made a half-hearted fight against us, is crippled to the extent of about a third of its service. The Music Machine Company trunk lines, out Second avenue to the works near Homestead, have been out of service since March 31. The Jones & Laughlins exchange is out of commission, the company depending on a pair of Pittsburgh & Allegheny lines crossing the Twenty-second street bridge to the South Side. There are ten pairs of trunk lines connecting McKeesport, down."

Hazelwood Lines Down.

"To the Hazelwood exchange there is only one pair of lines working, where there were formerly 15. The Frankstown avenue lead, a cable box at the corner of Station street, burned out the night after the strike started and 200 phones are useless as a result.

"A lead of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny company from Atwood and Forbes streets covering 10 party lines, with an average of over two telephones each, has been out since the big Sunday storm of March 30.

"The work of a force of inexperienced men to repair a cable break of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny company at Duquesne way and Eighth street resulted in throwing about 200 telephones out of service. Only one of the two cables there was broken and the men made a cross-connection throwing both out of service. The Mellon Rocks exchange of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny is also badly crippled."

R. E. Colter, business agent of the linemen and head of the strike committee, said: "The report that one of our men cut the lines at the Millvale exchange of the Bell interest is untrue and unjust.

"If one of our men did such a trick we would fine him, suspend him and assist in his prosecution. We have no purpose to win the strike by such methods. I am reasonably certain that an employe of the company did the wire cutting. The description of the man tallies with one that we know very well and such a move would not surprise us as a means of taking public sympathy from us."

The strike leaders had the best of a contest for men to work for the Pittsburgh & Allegheny last week. They say that Jean R. Wilson, superintendent of construction, spent three days in New York and Jersey City, and after gathering 12 men lost all but three through the work of tickets of the organization. John Charles, a member of the union, joined the party in New York and won over six by the time they had reached Jersey City. He telegraphed the time to look for the rest here and it was found that one of the party was a member of the organization and that two others with him refused to go to work. The other three, they say, include one steamfitter and two linemen who have had experience as strike breakers.

D. McRoberts, who came here from Baltimore to work for the Pittsburgh & Allegheny company and who was put under $500 bond by Alderman Anderson to answer in court a charge of assault and battery, is the subject of a singular incident which has come out of the strike and which the leaders regard with suspicion.

MANY STRANGERS VISITED PARKS

YESTERDAY'S WEATHER CAUSED EXCURSIONS TO BE PATRONIZED.

Emblems of Spring Were in Evidence Everywhere—Zoo and Conservatory Proved Most Popular Places—Botanical Hall Receives Fine Painting.

There was a large attendance at the parks yesterday, and it was noticed that the majority of the visitors were strangers, brought to the city by the various railroads, which had run excursion trains. Nature is clothing the parks in summer attire and they are becoming pretty and attractive. Many of the smaller trees and shrubs are in leaf and early spring owers are beginning to appear. The improvements at Highland and Schenley parks are now well under way and when completed will add much to the beauty of both parks. Thousands of tulips are in bloom at Highland park and the three large ornamental beds in front of the zoo are a mass of beautiful colors.

The zoo was crowded all afternoon and it was almost impossible to get into the wings where the monkeys were housed. Supt. Earnest Tretow left for New York on Saturday evening. His mission is to get some new additions for the zoo and he will probably be able to dispose of several of the young lions. There are too many lions in the place now, and as room is badly needed they will be sold or traded for other attractions.

The wind did not injure the tulip beds and they were gorgeous with color yesterday. There are about 6,000 bulbs in the three beds and about 5,000 of them are in bloom. All the animals except the two Polar bears appear to be enjoying the pleasant spring weather. The two bears, which have been separated since their fight a few weeks ago, were restless yesterday and every few minutes kept plunging in and out of their tanks. Many of the visitors to the zoo also visited the flower show at the Phipps conservatory.

The crowd was not as large at Schenley park as at Highland park, but upon the roadways and boulevard were many handsome turnouts. Bicycles and automobiles could be seen in every drive. During the tree-planting season, which is now over, as the leaves are beginning to appear on the older trees, 60,000 locust seedlings were planted under the direction of Supt. William Falconer. Of this number 30,000 were planted in Schenley and the remainder in the several South Side parks. Besides those, many oaks, lindens, ash, dogwood and tulip trees also were planted. The locust seedlings were planted along the banks and slopes on the extreme southern border of the park, as this tree will grow where no other tree will.

A painting, the gift of Henry Phipps to Botanical hall, was received yesterday evening by Supt. Falconer. The subject is not known, as the picture has not been opened. It came through the custom house and is the work of a celebrated European artist.

Ornamental flower beds are being prepared by Supt. Hamilton in the Allegheny parks. It will take all of next week to complete them, but no flowers will be placed in them until after the danger of frost has disappeared.

TO CONTRADICT REPORT OF THE OLD COMMITTEE

Polytechnic Experts Expected to Furnish a Large Amount of Data.

WILL MEET WITHIN WEEK

Their Report Will Conflict With Some of the Theories Advanced by Committee on Higher Technical Education.

The committee of experts brought here two weeks ago to look into the practical possibilities of the new Carnegie technical school, is preparing to surprise the committee on plan and scope on the amount of data presented in its report. The committee consisted of Prof. C. B. Connelley of the Allegheny Mutual Training school, Prof. Arthur Hammerschlag of the Grant Manual Training school, New York, and Prof. W. L. Williston of the Pratt Institute, Brooklyn.

This committee met in Pittsburgh about two weeks ago and spent several days in going over the ground. An immense amount of data was collected, which it will take some time to shape up into a report. The committee on plan and scope was informed of the researches of the experts and told that it would take several weeks to complete a proper report.

The experts' report will contradict some of the theories advanced almost a year ago by the old committee on higher technical education, composed of Prof. Robert H. Thurston of Cornell university, Prof. Adrian Alderson of Armour institute, Prof. Thomas Anderson of Northwestern university and Prof. Gray of the Rose Polytechnic school, Terra Haute, Ill.

The committee on plan and scope is prepared to give the experts all the time within reason to make their report.

The experts are preparing to meet in New York within the next week to compile their notes into a report, which will be presented to the committee on plan and scope as soon as it is completed. The amount of data contained in the report will surprise the committee and the character of part of it, which is in direct contradiction to the report of the former committee on higher technical education, will also be a surprise.

The committee on plan and scope expects that two days will be necessary for the experts to complete their report. The members of the committee are perfectly satisfied to wait for the report of the experts, for as one of them remarked yesterday, "It will be some time after the experts' report is turned in before the city is heard from on the site, so we have plenty of time."

The committee on plan and scope cabled Mrs. Mary E. Schenley, who owns the 41 acres suggested for the site, asking her for a price on the property. The cablegram was sent about a month ago, but so far no reply has been received and the committee is still waiting. Once Mrs. Schenley quotes a price the city government will be informed of it and it is expected that steps will be taken immediately to acquire it.

"I'm never rushed," she told her friend with the worried look, "and neither would you be if YOUR home contained a BELL telephone."

Read The Wrapper
From a woman's wrapper or shirtwaist can be read her method of washing. Faded colors and worn fabrics tell of rubbing on the washboard, and the use of strong, alkali soap.
Walker's Soap
makes the washboard and rubbing unnecessary. It contains no alkali—nothing to eat the fabric or fade the colors. It is made of pure cocoanut oil and edible tallow.
Read the wrapper and learn the new way of washing. The genuine has the game rooster.

JOSEPH HORNE CO.

Monday, April 28, 1902.

A Re-Order of Floral Beauties

from Paris arrived Saturday. We would be pleased to have you meet them today, and can unhesitatingly say you will be impressed by their entrancing beauty.

Like all French cottons the genius of French colorists pervades the collection. We think they are the handsomest cottons for party and outing dresses we ever saw. Among them are

Printed Organdy Raye,
Printed Swiss Plumetis,
Printed Sheer Mousseline,

in such delightful botanical variety as poppies, wild rose, apple blossoms, wisteria in full bloom, and many other specimens.

In furtherance of our endeavors to give best goods for lowest prices, this exceptional offer is submitted:

2,200 yards of 35c and 45c IMPORTED FANCY MADRAS—about an equal division of Glasgow and Manchester weaves—just splendid for the shirtwaist and shirtwaist suit..... 25c a yard

Some Words on Cretonnes

together with a mention of other suitable stuffs for Summer draperies.

Of all drapery materials Cretonne is the staunchest—it is an all round material for which women have nothing but highest praise.

For the past six months we have been after the makers in Europe and America, and are now in possession of as complete a collection of this worthy drapery fabric as the great trade of this fourth floor department demands.

The many ways it can be employed—for bed spreads, valances, all sorts of curtains and draperies, upholstery coverings, furniture slips, chair cushions, sofa pillows, screens, applique work, borders for plain materials, etc.—gives to it its intense popularity.

We show it in a range of prices beginning at 15c a yard and going to the finest makes of English, French, Dutch, Java and Oriental prints, in all the artistic effects it is possible to devise.

In other drapery materials we show:

Madras for curtains in handsome mural effects—those pretty designs after the manner of high-class stained glass.

We also show a thousand and one styles of white washable stuffs for curtains, beginning with dainty stripes, spots, bows and figures at 10c a yard and going through the maze of fabrics to the delicately embroidered swisses at $1.25 a yard.

One of the features of this department is an embroidered dot swiss 84 inches wide, from which spreads for brass beds can be made all in one piece.

This morning we open up a large shipment of pretty embroidered Swisses with scalloped edges—the nicest material ever woven for curtains—and the price range is 12½c, 15c, 18c and 20c a yard.

Some very pretty colored stripe stuffs for summer curtains—ready to hang—no lining or trimming needed. 18c, 25c, 35c, 40c and 50c a yard. Finer grades of this material with a mixture of silk, up to $2.75 a yard.
